Senate in 1926 Wins
Out for Congress Post

CHICAGO, April 9.—(UP)—Ruth Hanna McCormick, born to political purple, today became the first woman ever to be nominated for the United States senate by a major party.

Illinois, which furnished the first Republican president, signified its choice for the G. O. P. senatorial nomination in unmistakable figures yesterday, casting aside its veteran senator Charles S. Deneen for the dynamic daughter of Mark Hanna.

Today it appeared the final result of the primary, the first national one of the year, was a matter of adding up Mrs. McCormick's plurality.

The latest returns from 5290 precincts of the state's 117 gave Mrs. McCormick 503,241 votes and Senator Deneen 248,222.

The victory was more than just a political triumph for Mrs. McCormick. It meant to her political revenge for the defeat Deneen administered her husband, Senator McMill McCormick, six years ago.

Senator Deneen, hitherto undefeated in 38 years of public service, retired to his home early today without making a statement or conceding defeat.

Mrs. McCormick, seasoned by years of politics since the days of President McKinley, took her victory calmly but there was no mistaking the joy it brought.

Her ever ready smile flashed as she got returns from the United Press wire in her headquarters. At her side in a Palmer House suite sat a friend of long standing and tried devotion, Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, also born to political purple and credited with as much behind the scenes politics as Mrs. McCormick with the foot-light variety.

Incomplete returns gave Deneen a lead in 39 counties and Mrs. McCormick a lead in 61. The Deneen counties largely were those in the mining areas, the agricultural counties holding with Mrs. McCormick.

In Chicago, Mrs. McCormick's vengeance for her husband's defeat extended even into supposed Deneen strongholds.

Evansville, home of Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, was a battleground with Deneen apparently winning by 200 votes.

Madison county, where Deneen was born, voted for him by a majority.

Twice refused a seat by the United States senate because of alleged excessive campaign expenditures in his 1926 primary campaign, Frank L. Smith Dwight, was believed today to have paved the way for his possible entry into the lower house of congress as a result of his apparent victory in yesterday's state primary election where he was a candidate for Republican congressman at large.

According to latest returns, Smith and Richard Yates, Springfield, a sitting congressman at large, will be the Republican nominees in the November election. They were opposed for the nominations by 21

100 Valuable Hens Stolen During Night

One hundred Minorca chickens, owned by J. F. Bruce, who resides on Dyer road, 300 feet east of South Main street, were stolen last night, according to a report made to the sheriff's office.

The chickens, of a fine stock, were taken after wire netting around the pens was cut, it was reported.

The theft is the first reported from this section of the county in the past several months. An investigation by sheriff's officers failed to reveal any clues. The nature of the robbery indicated that an organized band of chicken thieves, officers said.

165 AIRPLANES ENGAGE IN WAR IN SACRAMENTO

Battles in Mid Air Feature of Army Aircraft Maneuvers Are Today

MATHER FIELD, SACRAMENTO, April 9.—(UP)—Battles in mid air between pursuit and attack planes of the army corps, and attacks on the low flying bombardment ships provided the thrills for today's field exercises of the provisional wing.

The entire day was spent in this simulated combat, designed to give the pilots training in conditions as near actual warfare as possible. The maneuvers were carried on within a space a mile square above the airdrome.

After a day of ground work, during which the 165 army fighting planes assembled here were "tuned up" by mechanics for the rough treatment ahead, the exercises resumed at 8:30 a. m. today.

Texas and Michigan units started the fireworks at today's session, when the first pursuit group of Selfridge Field, Mr. Clemens, Mich., was sent into the air with orders to "shoot down" the planes of the third attack group, Fort Crockett, Galveston, Tex.

Major Willis Hale of the general staff, flying a Keystone bomber, went aloft late yesterday and laid an opaque curtain of smoke around Mather field to demonstrate the value of the smoke screen in protecting ground operations from eyes of the "enemy."

Details of the second visit of the air fighters to San Francisco and the bay region April 19 and 20 were announced today by General William E. Gillmore.

The entire wing accompanied by a large number of staff planes, will descend upon San Francisco at 2:30 p. m. April 19. General Gillmore will join the official reviewing body, headed by Mayor James Rolph of San Francisco.

Following the aerial review, the 165 planes will break up into groups. There will be battles between pursuit, attack and bombardment planes, followed by "dog fighting" or free for all battle.

This demonstration, according to headquarters will include some of the most hair-raising high altitude stunts for which the army pilots are famous.

At the close of the present week the war planes are to make a night fight over Sacramento, dropping a five million candlepower flare, and take night pictures. Saturday they are to participate in the dedication of the Sacramento municipal airport.

NEW YORK DOCTOR, NURSE FOUND DEAD

NEW YORK, April 8.—(UP)—Dr. Maxwell E. Allen, a physician, was found dead today in his duplex apartment in a fashionable section near a bed on which lay the body of a young woman, about 22 years old, shot through the throat.

The young woman was tentatively identified as Miss Florence LaPelle, the doctor's secretary-nurse. No one in the apartment house had heard shots or sounds of a struggle.

After investigation an assistant medical examiner announced it was unquestionably a case of murder and suicide.

SUPERVISORS ARGUE AGAINST SAVING TAXPAYERS' MONEY

Further Cuts In Gas Prices Are Reported

Portland Buys Gasoline for Two Cents Less Than
Los Angeles

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—(UP)—Curtailed of crude oil production in California fields, made effective by agreement, has failed to end a price cutting war in the wholesale and retail gasoline business on the Pacific coast.

A United Press survey of Oregon, Washington and California disclosed today that the same quality of gasoline is selling for a dozen different prices.

Motorists frown just a little when telling service station attendants to "fill 'er up" in Los Angeles, smile broadly in Seattle and Portland but curse a bit in San Francisco and a few other central and northern California cities.

There is a price variation of 6 to 7 cents per gallon along the coast and no one, least of all the oil men, will attempt to explain it. Stranger still is the fact that coast cities the longest distance from oil fields and refineries enjoy lower gasoline prices than communities located in the heart of oil districts and virtually surrounded by refineries.

In Los Angeles, the center of tremendous producing fields, the prevailing price for high quality gasoline is 15 1/2 cents per gallon while in Portland, Ore., and Seattle, far to the north of oil fields, the general price is 14 1/2 cents.

California and Washington exact a three cent sales tax on gasoline while Oregon's tax is four cents, thus gasoline is two cents cheaper per gallon in Portland than in Los Angeles, despite the fact that Portland's gasoline is shipped 1000 miles. In Seattle, a greater distance than any other coast city from oil fields, gasoline is one cent cheaper than in Southern California.

San Francisco's prevailing price is 20 cents while motorists in a few other northern and central California cities are paying 21 cents which, allowing for state tax differences, is 7 1/2 cents higher than Portland's prevailing price per gallon.

In some cities, including Centralia and Chehalis, Wash., companies as well as independent stations are selling gasoline for 11 cents a gallon, tax paid. This includes all brands.

Major oil company executives decline to discuss the situation or to reveal the wholesale price. It is known, however, that the wholesale price in San Francisco is higher than the retail price in the Pacific northwest, despite the fact that refineries are nearby.

The general attitude of service station operators was expressed by Hugh Monroe, chain store operator, who said:

"Everyone is trying to undersell and wants to see how much money he can lose."

L. W. Sochman, chairman of a group of independent operators and representing 400 of them, said:

"A stabilized wholesale price of 15 1/2 cents and an opportunity to sell our gasoline for enough to allow some margin of profit are the points we seek to attain before we give up the gasoline fight."

Church Board Is Assailed By Wet Solon

Tinkham Charges Methodist Temperance Body
Violated Tenet

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(UP)—The fundamental American tradition of separation of church and state has been violated by the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals and the federal council of churches, Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, charged before the senate lobby committee today.

Tinkham, a wet, asked the committee to investigate the lobbying activities of these two organizations on prohibition and other public questions.

The Massachusetts representative, who is known also as an African big game hunter, appeared before the committee with a voluminous written statement but was not allowed to read it. Chairman Caraway pointed out other witnesses had not been allowed to read prepared statements.

Tinkham declared the "plain intent" of the constitution was that "church and state should be separate, the one not to interfere with the other in order that religion should be free from interference by the state and that the United States should not become a prey to the temporal power of any church."

The board of temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church and the federal council of the churches of Christ in America have set aside entirely this principle," he said.

"They have asserted their right to interest themselves as ecclesiastical organizations politically in all moral questions."

"There is hardly a question or an issue which cannot arbitrarily be held to be a moral question or a moral issue."

"If through coercion open or implied, and political action; direct or indirect, on the part of a nationally organized church or nationally organized churches; Congress of the United States is subject to this dictation and this influence, no longer do we have in the United States except in form a representative democracy. We have in fact a theocracy, a government by the church."

"I believe that the committee can render no greater public service than to do its part towards a public exposure of the practices of these organizations, in violation of the constitution."

BOARD CHOOSES COMMITTEE TO APPRAISE PARK

Body to Report Back Fair Estimate of Value of State Park Site

TAKING DEFINITE action furthering the proposed Orange county beach state park between Huntington Beach and Newport Beach, the county board of supervisors yesterday at the regular weekly session decided to appoint an appraisal committee to make and report back a fair estimate of the value of the lands that have been proposed as the location for the state park. Another outstanding action that was taken by the board was the purchase of group insurance for all county employees receiving not more than $225 per month, who care to avail themselves of this opportunity.

The state park appraisal committee appointments are to be made by the board members today, each supervisor selecting one man to serve on the group. The appraisal is to be made as a move toward determining value of the site which has been offered as a state park at a price of over $1,500,000, half of which is to be paid by the state and half by the county. The site would provide a stretch of 10 miles of beach front for use of the public. Indorsement of the land which it is proposed to purchase has been received from all parts of the county as well as from the state park board.

The state will develop and maintain the park after it is secured and the project is expected to attract many visitors to the county if it goes through. A committee headed by T. B. Talbert, of Huntington Beach, has been quite active in the matter and told the board of supervisors last week that immediate action was necessary to hold the land intact, as the options expired in 60 days from that time and the

SEES BATTLESHIPS MADE OF ALUMINUM

LONDON, April 9.—(UP)—Aluminum alloy battleships and cruisers may enable the nations in the future to evade the effect of tonnage limitations on the navy, S. L. Archbutt, noted metallurgist, said in a lecture last night.

"In soundness and mechanical properties, the reliability of modern light aluminum alloys compete favorably with cast iron, brass and bronze," Archbutt said. "The question of light saving in warships has become a vitally important problem since the Washington conference limited the tonnage of warships."

"Due to their lightness, these alloys are bound to become increasingly important in naval construction in the future."

NEGRO BRAKEMAN KILLED IN CRASH

ALVIN, Tex., April 9.—(UP)—A Negro brakeman was killed, an engineer was believed fatally hurt and a dozen persons were injured early today when a Missouri Pacific passenger train plowed into an express train standing at the station here.

The brakeman, believed to be Mack Brazier, was crushed.

The engineer, Byron Rayford, was mangled badly and scalded by steam from broken pipes.

THREE POWERS AGREEMENT IS REACHED TODAY

Italy Holds Up Possibility of Five Power Treaty
By Her Demands

LONDON, April 9.—(UP)—A full agreement on a three-power naval understanding among the United States, Great Britain and Japan was reached today.

The agreement was completed when Japan withdrew her request from the destroyer to the submarine category.

The agreement was reached after several days' discussion of the Japanese reservations to Anglo-American proposals for a three-power understanding. It provides that Japan will be allowed to accelerate replacements in submarine, destroyer and light cruiser classes to keep her dockyards busy.

One more meeting, scheduled for tomorrow, will be necessary before the technical phases of the accord are outlined. Problems concerning ships to be retained for training purposes will be taken up.

Meanwhile, the Italian delegation held up Franco-British progress toward a five-power agreement.

After France and Britain had reached an agreement meeting France's demands for security guarantees, Italy announced she would not join a five-power pact unless France recognized her claim to naval parity.

FORD PROFITS FOR YEAR $81,797,861

BOSTON, Mass., April 9.—(UP)—The Ford Motor company made an indicated profit of $81,797,861 in 1929, according to the company's balance sheet filed with Henry F. Long, state commissioner of taxation and corporations, today.

This compared with an indicated loss of $22,149,498 for 1928 and a loss of $42,736,727 for 1927.

The balance sheet, one of the first reports to be made public showing Ford's financial progress with his new model cars, was dated Dec. 31, 1929.

The profit and loss account as of the date totaled $664,427,424, compared with $582,629,563 on the corresponding date of 1928.

PASADENA DOCTOR DECLARED SUICIDE

PASADENA, April 9.—(UP)—Authorities said today that investigation of the suicide of Dr. Henry J. Woodhouse, 79, who shot himself last Friday night, had been closed with a coroner's jury verdict that he died from a self-inflicted bullet wound while dispondent because of ill health.

Dr. Woodhouse's son, Edward Woodhouse, a teacher at Stanford, was one of the witnesses at the inquest.

The son said his father evidently shared the belief held by some other physicians that old and sick animals be put out of the way. The son wept as he testified.

INJUNCTION DENIED

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 9.—(UP)—An injunction to restrain the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company proxy committee from voting 51,033 contested shares of stock in the Sheet and Tube-Bethlehem Steel corporation merger was denied today by Common Pleas Judge C. S. Turnbaugh as Sheet and Tube stockholders prepared to convene to hear the result of a vote taken on the merger last night.

Distance Record Sought By Pilot In Small Plane

CINCINNATI, April 9.—(UP)—In an attempt to break the light plane long distance record for a nonstop flight to New York, Pilot Stanley C. Huffman took off from here at 7 a. m. in a small 400-pound plane.

Huffman, operations manager of the Ebvry-Riddle company, faced the perilous 600-mile journey in the Aerona C, equipped with a 35-horsepower motor and with only 35 gallons of gasoline. Officials at Lukens field said it was the longest flight ever attempted by such a small ship.

FLORIDA STUDENTS THREATEN STRIKE

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 9.—(UP)—One thousand students of Andrew Jackson high school here threatened to strike today in protest against refusal of the board of education to reappoint Prof. F. S. Wetzel as principal. Wetzel indicated he had the situation well in hand.

"There will be no walkout," he said. "The students will do what I say."

The board of education gave no reason for its refusal to reappoint Wetzel whose retention the parents of many students were said to have demanded. Students held a mass meeting as soon as the board's action became known and voted to strike in protest, setting 10 a. m. as their deadline.

Standard Plans New Oil Field On Newport Bay Island

ROYALTY LEASE IS SIGNED WITH IRVINE CONCERN

An attempt to develop a new oil field on an island in Newport bay will be made by the Standard Oil company of California, probably within the next 30 to 45 days. The lease has been signed and negotiations now are under way to secure permits from the county and U. S. war department to make drilling possible.

Slightly more than 640 acres of land have been leased from the Irvine company by the Standard Oil company, according to a statement made by James Irvine Jr., today. The location selected for drilling is on an island just north of Cone island in upper Newport bay. The lease provides that drilling must start not later than May 27.

According to Irvine, Standard Oil representatives began negotiations with the Irvine company about a month ago, culminating in the signing of a royalty lease. He said the company officials hoped to reach oil at a reasonably shallow depth.

Yesterday the oil concern sought permission from the board of supervisors of land 40 feet wide for construction of a roadway to the island. The board continued the matter until its meeting on April 15.

owners were eager to dispose of their property.

The insurance matter has been agitated for the last two years and has been actively before the board for the last six months. The resolution provides for increasing the pay of all employees who are earning not more than $125 per month in the sum of $1 per month, and that the amount of the premium be deducted from the salary thus authorized. Policies of $1000 thus will be made available at low cost to all county employees under the provisions of the measure.

Action was taken after petitions had been signed by practically all county employees concerning the provisions of the policies. An appropriation of $200 to the Missouri State Life Insurance company was ordered by the board to start the plan work. The selection of the firm to carry the insurance was made by County Purchasing Agent F. W. Slabaugh after a conference with various agents. George E. Falnes represents the company selected.

Permission was asked of the board, by a representative of the Standard Oil company for a right-of-way across tidelands on an island in the upper part of Newport bay, where it is the intention of the oil company to drill an oil well. The matter was continued until the afternoon session on April 15. Permission of the war department also is necessary to obtain right-of-way across tidelands.

The board made an additional appropriation of $400 to cover state

SUGGEST MOTIVE UNFAIR AS REASON FOR PAYING DOUBLE PRICE FOR ALL COUNTY ADS

ange county was a prize that Los Angeles papers were also angling for. He quoted figures based on a circulation for the Register which he said was 11,127 (this figure is that of a year ago), and drew the conclusion that the Register covered less territory than it claimed. He also declared that the proposition of Orange county having any one county paper was out of the question in this county where people were intensely loyal to their own city. He paid tribute to the Register by saying that it was a wonderful paper and better than those turned out in the outside districts. He closed by advising the board of supervisors not to be a party to what he termed was a Santa Ana newspaper fight and maintaining that the present rate was just and fair to all concerned.

In response to the request of Chairman Smith, Burke then spoke, answering Loudon, blasting his arguments with figures and logic and pointing out that the real issue for the board to decide was whether or not it would handle the purchase of advertising in a business-like manner, buying the most circulation and best service at the lowest price, as it purchased other materials needed by the county, or whether it would continue its present policy of paying additional thousands of dollars of the taxpayers' funds for what might be termed an inferior product. He also declared that there was no longer any basis for higher rates for legal advertising than for commercial advertising and pointed out the inconsistency of papers charging three times the commercial rate for advertising that was required by law.

"A man publishing a newspaper should not be required to plead for an advertiser to accept a lower rate, particularly when it is a fair rate," Burke asserted. "On the basis of the commercial rate of the other paper to which the advertising is now going, you are putting money in the pocket of that paper at the rate you are paying," he told the supervisors. "If it is a duty to support a newspaper by taxpayers' money, then you are doing a commendable work." He pointed out that the supervisors are now paying about 99 cents an inch for advertising space that is being sold commercially by the same paper for 30 cents an inch.

Stand on Merits

"Conditions are changing fast and newspapers are not depending on and should not be getting political favors or money from city and county governments. It is a federal supervision in fire prevention and suppression in the county during the approaching summer season. The additional appropriation covers the period from May 1 to June 30, the balance of the season being provided for in the sum of $3000 appropriated last week.

business that should stand on its own merits. Advertising should be solicited on merit and the Register sells just what it has to give—more circulation.

"Rates for commercial advertising outside the Register can be bought for one-third less than the legal rate they are charging. I maintain it is not a square deal for newspapers to sell advertising to commercial users and charge double for legal as has been the practice in the past. The rate that we have been receiving is not unreasonable. The non-contract rate is 75 cents per inch in the Register. The lowest contract rate, with discounts is 45 cents, which is the rate we are now proposing for legal advertising. The legal rate should not establish the just rate for advertising. It should be the rate for which the publisher is willing to sell on commercial contract.

"Personally and as a publisher I endeavor to stand for every good thing in the county. I am willing to be assessed for all good things. But I am selling advertising, not giving it. Newspaper men are not selling advertising at less than cost. If 90 cents is a fair rate then they should not be giving away 60 cents on every inch to merchants. The same rate that I am asking to have established for legal advertising at a great reduction from the present rate that is being paid is still 50 per cent higher than the commercial rate of other papers.

Ads Carried Free

"The Register has been carrying the county legal advertising for six months, since it was taken from us, free of charge in order that the taxpayers whom the Register reaches in greater proportions than other papers, might be informed as to county business. An occasion now arises where the cost of publishing the tax list is prohibitive on this basis and we set the legal rate low to give the supervisors the opportunity to give the most taxpayers the opportunity to read this legal advertising. The supervisors are trustees of the public funds. They should buy at the lowest rate.

"It is true as Mr. Loudon has stated, that the competition of the Register is from the Long Beach and Los Angeles papers. But he is mistaken if he claims that there is more circulation of a Long Beach paper along the county coast than the Register. It may be true in Seal Beach, but it is not so along the coast as a whole. In Huntington Beach alone the Register has a circulation of 362. The A. B. C. paid circulation of the Register today is 12,922 and the actual circulation is 13,275. The Register is the only paper in the county claiming to go into all parts of the county, and it does do this. The local papers cover their district well, but they make no claim of going outside. The Register is the only one that can claim this.

"Newspaper men try to get as much from officials as they can. I have not been a party to that and will not be. Twenty-five years ago the life of a paper often depended on what county auditor was elected as the legal advertising meant the difference between enough to live on and starvation. The time will come when publishers of the county will be glad that I am taking this stand of establishing legal advertising rates on the commercial rate.

"With the Register going into over 13,000 homes in Orange county it figures over three-fifths of the homes in the county. If the supervisors take the position of the taxpayer and the business man they will buy their advertising in the field where they can get equality good or better merchandise at an equal or better price."

QUALITY AND PRICE
In response to a suggestion of Maxwell, of Fullerton, as to the motive of the Register in making this change in rate, Burke declared that even if the motive were questioned and he were accused of being wicked and corrupt, the fact remained that if it were any other form of contract up before the field where the decision the supervisors would look at it on the basis of quality and price.

Supervisor Charles Chapman declared that what he characterized as a sudden change of heart at a certain time savored of unfairness, which he stated would not go with the board and Supervisor William Schumacher asked Burke why he did not refund the difference between the rate he was now proposing and what he had received during the last two years. The other three members of the board, who will be candidates for reelection this year, had nothing to say on the subject.

Burke answered Chapman effectively by stating that the matter came up for decision at this time because although he had continued to carry the county legal advertising without pay since last fall, the tax list which was coming up was of such proportions that he could not afford to do this and so made the offer that would permit the board to place it where it would be read by most people at a price that enabled the Register to meet the actual cash outlay involved.

Answering Schumacher the publisher asserted that the rate in the past had been regarded as fair, but that it was not fair when considering less circulation and when legal advertising rate was being established on a commercial basis, as it would be in the Register from this time on. He declared the county was running legal advertising every week, regardless of the tax list matter, that he was not starting a newspaper row, but was merely requesting the board to save money for the taxpayers and it was up to the board whether it wanted to take advantage of a good proposition or not.

The conference closed and the board took up other business without taking any action or indicating that they intended to do so.

NEW HOME FOR M. W. A. LODGE OF SANTA ANA

Plans which are expected to culminate in construction of a new lodge building by the Modern Woodmen of America in Santa Ana, to be ready for use by January 1, 1931, were launched last night at a meeting in the hall on East Fourth street which the order has used for the past 15 years.

The M. W. A. building association was formed and vested with authority to proceed with a program for providing a new home for the lodge. Chairman Martin, of Costa Mesa, has called a meeting of his committee on building for 8:30 a. m. tomorrow at the hall to consider further plans.

It is expected that a two or three story structure will be built, with the lower floor to be devoted to business. Several possible locations are under consideration, one of which is on North Main and one on South Main street. Property with a 50 foot frontage will be utilized.

In addition to Martin, the building committee includes C. L. Tibbette, E. B. Royce, C. C. Cartwright and H. W. Warwick.

$22,602 ASKED FOR INJURED CHILDREN

A damage action, on behalf of Enrique Celaya Jr., 7, and Eloy Celaya, 6, was filed yesterday in superior court by Enrique Celaya sr., who asks total damages of $22,602.26.

The defendants are Lorne C. Moore, et al, who, it is charged, are responsible for the accident in Anaheim, last January, which resulted in injuries to the two children as they were crossing the street near the intersection of Palm and Broadway.

The father is asking $15,000 for board for the oldest boy and $7500 for injuries to his brother. The balance is asked in the name of the father for medical expenses.

Purchase of radios at the Fremont, Logan and Delhi schools was discussed and bids were ordered advertised. It was brought out that these schools are more or less community centers for people who do not have home advantages that other school pupils and patrons have and that the instruments would fill a definite need in the programs at these places.

A contract for wiring at the Roosevelt school on East First street, occasioned by widening of this thoroughfare, was awarded to the Robertson Electric company.

The board authorized the purchase of 10 benches for the student center at the Junior college. The students had requested facilities for 125 students in the outdoor study room. The appropriation for the center has already been exhausted in providing walkways and landscaping.

Protection as recommended by State Compensation Engineer Donahue at a recent visit for shafts and pulleys in the shops, was ordered to be taken care of by H. H. Drake, superintendent of buildings and grounds.

A contract for drapes for the Edison school auditorium was awarded to Reed Drapery Shop on the low bid. Doors for the south and west entrances at the Edison school were ordered from the Santa Ana Lumber company, which was the low bidder.

Bids for linoleum for the Wilson and Hoover school floors and for the Edison auditorium and certain rooms at Spurgeon school were ordered advertised, with the bids to be opened at the May meeting. Requirements are approximately three carloads.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

An ideal is an abstract, spineless, ineffective thing until you put your heart into it. It has no more force than a pretty fairy story.
But as you realize God's love for you, and what the love and faith of your dear one demands of you, and try to respond with the best you have to give, your ideal of what you ought to do and to become develops a compelling force which transforms and exalts your life.
The days just ahead will be hard, and you will be tempted to repine. But you will not fall those who love and trust you. Power from God will lift you within your own soul and go on doing your best.

Refreshments were served in the banquet room, the decorations consisting of candles and flowers, and the interest centering on the large birthday cake bearing 24 candles.

JUDGE ASSERTS MISTAKE MADE IN COMPLAINT

Judge Benjamin Warner, of San Bernardino, who was on the Orange county superior bench when the suit of the Talbert drainage district, the Newbert protective district and a group of West Orange property owners, to enjoin the city of Santa Ana from constructing a pile bridge across the Santa Ana river on the Santa Ana boulevard, came before the court five weeks ago, today had sustained the demurrer to suit filed by the city. Plaintiffs were given 10 days in which to file an amended complaint.

In giving his decision, the jurist pointed out that the complaint did not state whether the properties which the plaintiffs alleged may sustain damage by building of the bridge are within or outside of the boundaries of the municipality. If they are inside the city limits, the judge said, the owners had passed their opportunity for protesting the improvement. If they are outside, court action is the only recourse for the plaintiffs.

In a statement subsequent to his order sustaining the demurrer, Judge Warner said that if the case comes to trial the principal point for decision will be as to whether the city of Santa Ana can create an improvement that may be the equivalent of damming the river and causing flood waters to be diverted to adjoining lands. It is the contention of property owners that floating debris at times of flood will lodge against the bridge and virtually create a dam. The jurist intimated that it is his opinion that a municipality has no right to install in a stream anything that will interfere with its flow.

The bridge responsible for the suit has been built and now is complete except as to paving, which will not be done until the new highway is paved, probably some 60 days hence.

BIBLE PRINTED IN 1599 COMES TO LIGHT HERE

When Mrs. Frank D. Turner, of Court street in Stanton, saw the display of old Bibles in the window of the Santa Ana Book store, she brought in a Bible that was an heirloom in her family, and that was printed in London in 1599. "Translated out of Greeke by Theate Beza," says the title page, and "Englished by L. Tomson." The inscription continues with, "Imprinted at London by the deputies of Christopher Barker, printer to the Queene's Most Excellent Majesty, 1599."

As is usually the case with family Bibles, this one serves as a genealogical record of the descendants of its purchaser, James Royse. That he was the original owner is proven by his verse, in faded ink and quaint script and even quainter spelling:

"James Royse bought this booke God give me grace thereon to looke.
When I am old and like to dye O Father in Heaven heave mercy on me."
And again he has written:

"James Royse bought this booke and if it be lost and found again restore it to the owner thereof."
After passage of nearly a century, James Royse's descendants add their bit in "Addition" Thompson and Joan Grahams marriage. Married January 31, 1890. The names of their children follow, William, Janet, Jonathon, Margaret, Andrew and Rose. But preceding them were several interesting entries by James Mcallan, whose childish attempts at writing are hewn over and over again in the pages following the announcement of his birth in 1877. More legible is the inscription "Robert Mcallan in the county of Antrim, parish of ... (illegible) and townland of Ballyronny."

In the next century is to be found "Ballandean in the parish of Belbrashane long liberties of Colrairie and county of Londonderry."

Ballandean is my residence And God Almighty is my defence In my defence God me defend And bring my soul to a good end.

—Andrew Thompson.
"An account of the ages of Andrew Thompson his children. 1739 April 15 Jean Thompson my daughter was born this day." etc.

The phrase "long liberties of Colrairie," is explained, according to Frank Lansdown, of this city, as applying to the long time leases which once were given in England and Ireland. Some of these, he stated, are expressed, "As long as

Mrs. C. C. Myers, Former Resident Of S. A., Succumbs

Numerous friends of Mrs. C. C. Myers, of San Luis Obispo, formerly of Santa Ana, were shocked today to learn of her unexpected death, last week, in the home of a daughter, Mrs. Charles Teach, wife of the former superintendent of schools in Orange. A cerebral hemorrhage was the cause of death.

Mrs. Myers was prominent in the Methodist church of Santa Ana during the several years she was a resident of this city.
Surviving Mrs. Myers are four daughters, Mrs. Harry McCord, of Duane, formerly of this city; Mrs. Thomas Dilly, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Charles E. Teach, of San Luis Obispo, and Mrs. Elly K. Piles, of East Orange, N. J.

The grass grows green and the water flows.
The Bible was brought to this country by the great-grand grandfather of Mrs. Turner, who was the first to see its value as a family relic and heirloom. It came to its present owner from her father, the late Rev. Mr. Junkin, a Presbyterian minister. Miss Marion Turner, of the tax assessor's office, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Turner.

EARLY DECISION IS DESIRED ON J. C. PROPOSAL

The proposition of a union junior college for the southern part of Orange county was called to the attention of members of the Santa Ana board of education, last night, by Superintendent of Schools J. A. Cranston, who reminded board members that action had been held up some time ago, at the request of other districts interested in the matter, until after the election of school trustees in cities of the county other than Santa Ana, which occurred on March 28.

The union junior college matter originally was presented to the Santa Ana board by other districts, which suggested the formation of such a district and proposed that Santa Ana invite them to become annexed to the Santa Ana junior college district under the provisions of the law adopted by the last state legislature. As the program developed some opposition arose to the matter and it finally was tabled.

The matter was injected into the meeting last night during discussion of the 6-4-4 plan, which is being seriously contemplated in Santa Ana. This plan already has been adopted by Pasadena, Glendale, Compton and Ventura, it was reported by Superintendent Cranston.

ton, and is under consideration by Long Beach. Crowded conditions in the high school and junior college make definite action in one way or the other imperative, it was stated by the educational leader.

Cranston also brought up the question of whether the outside districts really desired to enter any junior college district, pointing to the decisive defeats that were given the Fullerton junior college annexation plan by Anaheim and Brea-Olinda.

SONG WRITERS ON ROTARY PROGRAM

In preparation for the coming annual election, the Rotary club yesterday named past vice presidents of the club as a committee to nominate men to be voted on at the election. The committee is composed of C. D. Brown, D. K. Hammond, C. H. Chapman, B. V. Curry, W. N. Vandermast and W. A. Taylor.

The club yesterday was entertained by a number of clever songs, sung by James Coburn, who was accompanied by James Guest. The two men are song writers for the talkies and Coburn presented some of their own compositions.

A travel address was made by Ronald M. DeLong.

AUDIT ASKED BY NELSON IN SUIT AGAINST BURNS

A suit, growing out of alleged actions following dissolution of partnership, had been filed today by Alex P. Nelson, former county district attorney, against his former partner, Kenneth C. Burns, asking for an accounting and a court order compelling return of partnership funds which Nelson alleges Burns appropriated.

The complaint shows that by mutual agreement the partnership, which was formed on April 3, 1927, was dissolved on March 10, 1928. Nelson charges that Burns immediately went to the bank and withdrew from the partnership account the sum of $1100, leaving in the account a balance of only 28 cents. He also alleges that Burns had charge of all books of account during the partnership and handling of all funds, which were to be shared equally. He asks a court order compelling Burns to turn the books over to an accountant for an audit and accounting.

It also is alleged that Burns, in moving from the partnership offices, took all the books of account and approximately all the files of cases that were being handled by the partnership. He asks that a referee be appointed to inventory the partnership accounts and make an equitable division of the cases to be completed.

NO ACTION ON PROPOSAL OF CITY TO BUY WILLARD SITE

A conference on the matter of selling the old Frances Willard junior high school site on North Main street to the city for use as the nucleus of a civic center, with utilization of the north building as a city hall, was held in the Santa Ana board of education offices at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon by city councilmen, members of the city planning commission and school board members.

Considerable discussion resulted, but no decision was reached and no definite action planned.

SELF DENIAL WEEK LAUNCHED BY ARMY

Launching its annual "Self Denial" week, the Salvation Army of Santa Ana is attempting to raise money with which to carry on the missionary work inaugurated by Gen. William Booth, founder of the army, before his death. It has been the custom in this city for Christian friends of the organization to mail their contributions to the Salvation Army headquarters.

Capt. J. J. Morton, of this city, defined "Self Denial" week as seven days in which citizens are asked to live without luxuries in order to finance the army missionary work.

"Eastern" is misleading in describing motor oil

WHEN you say "eastern", you undoubtedly want the best motor oil. But do you get it? The term "eastern" covers a lot of territory—and motor oils as different as the states from which they come.

Instead of saying "eastern", ask for Pennzoil. Then there will be not the slightest doubt as to what you get: Supreme Pennsylvania Quality, refined by the famous Pennzoil process.

You pay no more for Pennzoil because it lasts twice as long as ordinary oils. Why not have the best? Ask for Pennzoil by name.

WOMAN CLAIMS SWANSON THIEF WHO GOT PURSE

Joe Swanson, 35, arrested by city officers Sunday night for investigation, and who attempted to escape by dashing out the front door of the jail while he was being booked, may face a charge of burglary, following his identification, yesterday afternoon, by Mrs. J. R. Johnson, as the thief who entered her house Saturday and snatched a purse from the dining room table.

Swanson denies that he is the man who entered the Johnson home, which is located at 917 West Fifth street. Mrs. Johnson was in the house at the time and is said to have seen the thief enter through the rear door, rush to the dining room table, pick up the purse and dash out.

Officers today were delving into Swanson's record. He entered the jail here on March 12, 1929, on a burglary charge and served a year and 15 days, being released on parole from the remainder of a two-year sentence. Indications are that he will be brought into court within the next day or two on a charge of violation of parole.

He was arrested Saturday night on a battery charge, officers declaring that he beat up a youth following an argument with a girl.

STORY OF PRISON LIFE AT TEMPLE

"For the Term of His Natural Life," is the offering tonight and tomorrow night at Shelley's Temple theater, and as the title may suggest, it is a story of prison life.

While the picture has a beautiful love story running throughout, the romance is accompanied by innumerable thrills and moments of suspense furnished by the many spectacular prison breaks, mutinies and sufferings, that are realistically portrayed by a very able cast. An interesting feature of the picture is that some of its events are actually taken from the history of a noted English prison in Australia, where the picture was filmed.

Tonight is country store and gift night, this being Shelley's regular Wednesday night feature.

INSTALL FORGY EXALTED RULER OF ELKS LODGE

Santa Ana lodge, No. 794 Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, disbursed approximately $47000 in its charity activities for the year ended March 30, it was revealed by Leading Knight Fred Forgy at the meeting of the lodge last night, when Forgy made his last report

Perfect dyeing so easily done!

DIAMOND DYES contain the highest quality anilines money can buy! That's why they give such true, bright, new colors to dresses, gowns, lingerie.

The anilines in Diamond Dyes make them so easy to use. No spotting or streaking. Just clear, even colors, that hold through wear and washing.

prior to being installed as exalted ruler. In the same period the lodge made a gain of 102 members.

R. C. Benbough, of San Diego, secretary of the California State association, who was present as assistant installing officer, said that the membership gain in the state approximated 5000 since the last meeting of the association, in July. A goal of 10,000 new members has been set and the officer predicted that the number would be reached by July.

Installation of officers and the annual dinner preliminary to the ceremonies were the features that attracted a large number of Elks to the clubhouse here last night, more than 300 being present for the dinner and meeting.

W. C. Crandall, of San Diego, a past district deputy, was the installing officer, and he was assisted by Benbough and a group of Santa Ana members, organized as the grand lodge.

Officers installed were Forgy, exalted ruler; Franklin West, leading knight; G. P. Campbell, loyal knight; Harry Hyde, lecturing knight; E. R. Majors, secretary; Claude Steeper, treasurer; F. J. Adams, tyler; W. C. Jerome, trustee; E. E. Walker, equisire; Dr. Robert Currie, inner guard; H. J. Phinb, chaplain; Fred Newcomb, delegate to the grand lodge meeting in Atlantic City, next July; S. M. Reinhaus, alternate, and W. R. Gordon, organist.

Dr. J. P. Boyd, Fred Ross and Volney Tubbs were the only charter members present. The lodge was organized on July 14, 1902.

WHEN IT'S SPRINGTIME IN ORANGE COUNTY

When it's springtime in Orange and the fragrant citrus bloom is sending perfume through the air and help chase the gloom, O it's then I breathe the deepest—sort of fills my soul up, too. This here springtime in Orange county, when I'm kind o' down and blue.

When I see the little hummin' birds a playin' hide and seek Among the California flowers—again I want to speak Of spring in all its glory here in Orange county's land. There may be springs in other climes but none that's quite as grand.

The golden apples hangin' ripe And the luscious on the trees, You've never seen an orange unless, perchance, you've witnessed these; And the lemons, avocados, walnuts comin' in to bear, I could say our spring is perfect and have lots o' praise to spare.

Fact, I've been through other springtimes and I've heard the poets sing Of the groundhogs and his shadder and the meadowlarks on wings; But when the Lord made Orange county and left it to us to name, If we call our springtime heaven how could we be held to blame?

SWEEPING UPWARD in popularity—

There really never has been anything quite like the success of the Chrysler-built De Soto Six. It rushed into sudden popularity the moment the motoring public laid eyes on it—and went on to set up a new first-year sales record for the industry. That success grew and grew and today continues without lag or let-up. All this is simply a matter of cause and effect. The De Soto Six is a huge success in sales because it is a huge success in engineering and manufacturing—a six that definitely offers the owner more for his money in all those qualities that make for enjoyment, pride of possession and greater value. By no means consider buying any Six without taking a ride in a De Soto Six.

MISTAKE GAVE ROGERS START TOWARD FAME

Bungling started Will Rogers on the road to fame. America's cowboy humorist, who will appear in the Santa Ana high school auditorium next Friday night under the auspices of Elbel society, admits it himself. The cunning and dexterous hand that made Rogers one of the best ropers in the west failed him at a crucial moment—and made his fame and fortune.

Rogers was a cowboy at the famous "101" ranch, near Marland, Oklahoma. Every year Col. Zack Miller, the owner, sought out the best stars of the rodeo contests for his 101 ranch wild west shows. Will Rogers was one of the first members of the ranch to depart for greater laurels.

The show was concluding the season show at Madison Square Garden in New York. On the opening night a big, roan steer crashed through the barricades straight toward the packed crowd. Few saw the quick snap of a rope that brought the frightened animal down. Will Rogers was the roper. After that the crowd made the Garden reverberate with applause every time Rogers appeared. One night a vaudeville agent came in and believed the outburst was in appreciation of Will's ability with the lariat.

The agent approached Will and offered him $50 a week to twirl his rope on the vaudeville stage.

All of the boys of the "101" ranch show attended Will's vaudeville debut to whom it up for their comrade. The din was terrific and the manager thought he had a real find. But without his cowboy claque Will was so bashful on the stage that he didn't go over well. The vaudeville manager was discouraged. Then Will bungled to fortune. While doing his rope twirling act one night, his lasso became entangled about his legs. The audience laughed. The laughter annoyed Will.

"I'd heap rather have the thing around my laigs than 'have it around my neck," the disgruntled cowboy dryly commented. The crowd roared.

From that humble comment Will developed his extemporaneous monologues that are now famous the world over.

Edison's Early Struggles Told To Exchangeites

An illustrated talk by Walter G. Blossom, representing the Southern California Edison company, was featured on the program of the Exchange club in the Santa Ana cafe yesterday noon. Blossom, showing motion pictures in connection with his address, spoke on the contributions of Thomas Edison to California.

He explained the development of transportation, as pictured in the films, from the earliest crude vehicles to those of the present. The movies depicted Edison's early struggles and his invention of the incandescent light. The reel finished by showing development of water power and electricity in California mountain areas.

H. P. Harrison was program chairman and introduced Miss Ruth Campbell, who sang "My Love" and "My Lover is a Fisherman." She was accompanied by Miss Betty Burnham.

Gene Hays, secretary, called attention of the members to the annual state convention of Exchange clubs, to be held in Santa Cruz from May 22 to May 25, inclusive.

STATE HEAD TO ATTEND P.-T. A. ANAHEIM MEET

Mrs. R. L. Cardiff, of Santa Cruz, state president of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, will be among the dignitaries at the P.-T. A. convention to be held Saturday in Anaheim. Election of officers also will take place on that day, according to information revealed here today by Mrs. W. W. Gardner, press chairman.

One particularly interesting feature of the convention will be the poster exhibit and display of publicity books, which have been made by county school children and press chairmen of the various associations. Mrs. Gardner will be assisted in judging the displays by officials of the Anaheim group. The winning posters and booklets will be sent to the convention to be held in Riverside in May and then to the national convention.

Mrs. F. A. Farmer and Mrs. G. Grissell, of Riverside, were visitors in the home of Mrs. Neal Beisel, fourth district president, 417 Cypress avenue, yesterday. Together with their hostess and Mrs. C. H. Marcher and Mrs. Gardner, the women prepared 350 sprays of orange blossoms, gathered from Orange county ranches. Santa Ana plans to prepare 500 additional sprays, which will be presented to the delegates at the Riverside convention.

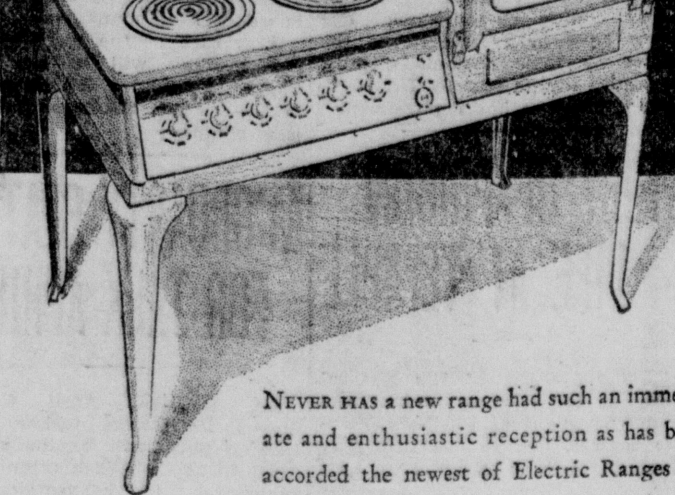

BAND TO ASSIST IN FOUR SQUARE MEET

The entire band from the Four-square Gospel church in Pomona will appear at the service in the Santa Ana tabernacle at 7:30 tonight, as the feature of the service to be conducted by Essie Brinkley Lucy, evangelist, who is conducting a series of inspirational meetings here. The band will come to this city with the Rev. Willard C. Parham, husband of Alice Wilson Parham, Santa Ana pastor, who has been assisting in the reorganization of the Pomona church.

What promises to be one of the most interesting lectures in the sermon series, will be given tonight. It is developed on the subject "The Owl, Vulture, Bat and Snail."

In addition to the evangelistic meetings, Miss Lucy is organizing a 50-piece band for the Santa Ana tabernacle. Much interest is being manifested in the project, with 40 band musicians already having signed for membership, according to an announcement made today by Mrs. Parham.

KELVINATOR now adds to its previous accomplishments a new discovery—Iso-Thermic Tubes—the fastest-freezing automatic device on the market. By means of it, ice cubes and desserts are frozen in a special compartment at twice the normal speed. It presents in its de luxe models, four distinct temperatures—each designed for a specific task of refrigeration. From first to last the new Kelvinators are entirely automatic—nothing for the housewife to regulate, nothing to trouble her memory.

In combination with these new automatic features, it retains the Kelvinator Cold-Keeper—a quality feature of the first Kelvinator, which has always been one of its great economy factors. Acting as a constant reservoir of cold, this equipment cuts down the number of operating periods fully one-third.

See the new Super-Automatic Kelvinators, note the wide margin by which they increase Kelvinator's reputation for reliable, wholly automatic service.

You need not delay your enjoyment of Kelvinator's new automatic features a day longer. A small sum down with easy monthly payments installs a Kelvinator in your home. Let us tell you about Kelvinator's attractive ReDisCo monthly budget plan.

S. Commerce department, That price, more Than anything else, Influences sales—

The survey covered The operations of 44 Retailers and 21 Of them Answered, "Price"—Seven dealers claimed That tone quality Was the greatest Sales factor, while Five said that Appearance Came first—

Two stores reported The sales of more Battery sets Than electric and one Reported selling an Equal number of each—

The electric sets Sold were 6.3 for Each battery set sold And the total Number of electric Sets sold by the Dealers covered in the Survey totaled 30,000—

The replies also Brought out a factor Which came as a distinct Surprise to us, Personally, for they Claimed that the man Made more Independent Purchases than The woman—

All of the reports Indicated that Local newspapers Were used to Promote retail sales—

ORGAN RECITAL VISEL SINGERS ON AIR TONIGHT

BY THE RADIO EDITOR

Another of Alan A. Revill's extremely popular organ recitals, presented by remote control from the First Congregational church, and a concert by the Visel Singers will be two of the principal attractions offered tonight to listeners-in to KREG, "Voice of the Orange Empire." It was announced today by Lyle "Andy" Anderson, program director.

The opening period this evening, from 4 to 4:30, will be occupied by a studio program and that will be followed, from 4:30 to 5 o'clock, by a program of violin selections, presented by John Purkiss, of Anaheim, appearing on the Children's Hour with Inez Moore. The Shoppe's Guide musical program will fill the 5 to 6 hour and will be succeeded by Alan Revill's organ recital, from 6 to 6:30. The next half hour will return Cleo Bowers Hein, soprano.

The news of the day will be read between 7 and 7:15, at which time Mrs. L. L. Beaman will appear before the mike in a 15-minute program, reading some of her own poems. Her program is to be known as Mrs. Beaman's Poems of Heart and Home. The Cogswell Sisters, vocal duo, is to offer a half hour of harmony, from 7:30 to 8 o'clock and the 8 to 8:15 period will bring the regular Wednesday night "Old-Timers' Program," offered through the courtesy of Shafer's Music house.

Joe Sanford and Ray Hallenbeck, instrumental duo, will be on the air from 8:15 to 8:45 and from that time until 9 o'clock L. L. Beaman will conduct his weekly radio class in "International Relations." Beaman is head of the social science department in the Santa Ana Junior college.

The Visel Singers, presenting a program arranged and directed by Holly Lash Visel, will broadcast from the KREG studio from 9 to 9:15 and will be followed by "Smilin' Eddie" Marble, KREG staff tenor, in his nightly 15 minutes of request numbers. Lucille Newberry, soprano, will sing a half hour program, from 9:30 to 10 o'clock, sponsored by Ray Brothers, the Yost Halmay shop and the Horton Furniture company. "Those Three Boys," Hawaiian trio, will close the night's entertainment with an hour of Hawaiian harmony.

HOOKE SLIDES
BY WILLIAM BRACHER
DID YOU KNOW THAT
Helen Hicks, Virginia Van Wie and Maureen Orcutt, three of this country's greatest women golfers, will be making their debut in foreign competition when they participate in the informal international match between an American group and England's best. . . . Ray Bengt, who flings baseball for Hurt Shotton's Philis, played baseball in Mexico once. . . . "I was warming up to pitch in a championship game of a series, said Bengt, "when a guy attired in sombrero, chaps and all the silver trimmings, rode a pinto onto the diamond and started blazing away with his gun. . . . The senior gringo loses today, eh?" he says to me, and stuck the cannon under my nose. . . . "Not only today, brother, but right now," I told him and ran like hell out of the park and into Texas. . . . That's the last baseball I played in Mexico," added Ray.

CLYMER RETURNS FAVOR

Among the thousands caught when the bubble burst in Florida real estate a few years ago was Joe Tinker, well on his way toward piling up a fortune. He had vast holdings around Orlando, hired a coal black chauffeur to drive his $5000 sedan and was the envy of most ballplayers. His car always was at the disposal of his tobacco-chewing baseball-playing friends.

Joe didn't get out from under in time, however, and when the crash came he was on the button. Now he's going to assist Bill Clymer with the management of the Buffalo Bisons in the International league. Clymer doesn't need an assistant, they say, but he gave Joe the job because Joe needed a job and because Clymer once benefited by Tinker's generosity years ago.

Everybody, of course, knows that Joe Tinker once was perhaps the game's greatest shortstop. His deeds in that famous combination on the Chicago Cubs infield, Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance, will remain a memory long after Joe has departed.

Tinker became a major league manager at the close of his playing career. Later he was owner of the Columbus team in the American association. Later still, he went into for Florida real estate and then was wiped out. With his fortune gone, Tinker has returned to his first love, baseball.

THE KIDDER DOUSED
The man Tinker will work for this season was once a colorful character in the American association. He was a renowned kidder, umpire baiter and what not, although they say he seldom, if ever, participated in any scraps as the result of his antics on the diamond. Clymer as a manager was a great drawing card, much the same as the late Pongo Joe Cantillon.

One of the few times Clymer ever was made the butt of a joke happened years ago when he was managing Columbus and Cantillon held the reins at Milwaukee. The two teams were near rivals in those days and fireworks usually were displayed whenever they met.

In one series, Clymer felt that his club was getting the dirty end of some off-color umpiring. Protest after protest he lodged and then when another decision appeared particularly rotten to him, he fell to the ground, apparently in a dead faint. His swoon looked genuine enough and the crowd didn't know whether to laugh or remain silent.

Out from the Brewer dugout raced a solitary figure, carrying the water bucket. He made for Clymer and when right over him let him have the contents of the pail full in the face.

That ended the swoon, if it was a swoon. Clymer jumped up and gave vent to a string of words that Captain Flagg or Sergeant Quirt never knew existed. And when the umpires chased him from the field, Clymer would have staged a very thorough massacre for less than a dime.

NEW S. A. GRID SCHEDULE DRAFTED

Goeders And Ramage Mix Again Tomorrow

PUNCHER FACES BOXER IN BIG REMATCH HERE

The two best light heavyweights who have boxed in this district since Wally Fraser was climbing the ladder a year ago will get together again tomorrow night when Promoter Henry T. Foust sends into his Orange County Athletic club ring "Jettin' Joe" Goeders of Santa Ana and Lee Ramage of San Diego.

The young 170-pounders are colliding for the second time in two weeks. When they traveled the same distance seven rounds, the night of March 27 the decision was awarded to Goeders after most of the fans had tabbed Ramage as a sure winner.

Foust was wise enough to throw them into the same ring again before public discussion went cold. The rematch figures to bring happy days again to the Del Rio road arena that has been playing ball in hard luck since the first of January.

Former Prep Athlete
A former San Diego high school baseball player of some note and a fine young sportsman, Ramage made a fine impression in his initial showing in Orange county. He was graduated from prep school during the Christmas holidays and embarked on his professional bout career early in January under the management of the astute "Pop" Hubley who also has in tow the promising heavyweight, Tony Starr.

Ramage won his first start by a decision and then scored seven straight knockouts in San Diego and Los Angeles rings. His unbroken string was snapped by Goeders two weeks ago.

Goeders came to Santa Ana when the Orange County Athletic club arena turned pro in January of 1929. As a middleweight he showed considerable promise but it was not until he took a "leave of absence" from the ring and grew into the light heavyweight class that he really took his biggest strides forward. Although it was generally believed Ramage beat him two weeks ago, Goeders still claims an undefeated record and he is sure to be winging for a knockout to protect his string tomorrow.

Boxer Against Puncher
Ramage is regarded as the faster and smarter boxer. Goeders rates as a stiffer puncher. Many critics believe they will put up the best fight of the season and that is saying something because O. C. A. C. cards have been pretty hard to beat for several months.

Paul Gomez, Anaheim welterweight, will meet Young Steelman, San Diego statebater of Lee Ramage, in the six-round semi-windup. Gomez showed unexpected class last week in defeating Harry Burrows, recent conqueror of Indian Jimmie Rivers.

Peppy O'Shea and Johnny Jordan, main events at Pasadena, will give the fans a flyweight treat of five rounds in the special event. There also will be three four-round preliminaries.

New and lower admission prices will be in effect.

Tuffy' Griffiths Stops Montgomery
SIOUX CITY, Ia., April 9.—"Tuffy" Griffiths, aspirant for the heavyweight title, today had taken the first step toward a comeback after his recent defeat by Jack Gagnon by knocking out Sully Montgomery, lumbering Texan, in the first round of a scheduled ten-round go here last night.

The tough one laid out the former Center college football star in 2 minutes and 47 seconds with a left hook.

Stars Ready For Contest In Riverside

Santa Ana's Stars tonight take the winding trail up the Santa Ana canyon to Riverside where they hope to score their second straight victory over the night baseball champions of Southern California.

Ed Santa probably will be Captain Bill Cole's turner nominee. The Rubidoux organization is expected to use "Slim Jim" Duncan, their ace, in an effort to square the three-game series which will be completed in the Santa Ana Bowl Friday night.

"Bomo" Koral will do the catching although the Stars' regular backstop, "Eeny" Wilcox, is rapidly recovering from a shoulder injury and may go behind the pan for a couple of innings to see how the harness feels again.

Curt Youel at first, Leavitt Daley or Bill Foote at second, "Memphis" Hill at short and Darwin Scott at third will compose the Star infield. Wayne Nelson, Randolph Bell, Orv Schuchardt and "Rosey" Merrill will do hawk duty.

BEES DROP 3-1 MOUND BATTLE TO LONG BEACH
Proving beyond question that they are a team that must be feared all the way this term, George Lackey's Santa Ana Bees, girding for their Orange County league season, held the powerful Long Beach Acorns, runners-up for the Southern California night baseball championship, to a 3 to 1 score at Long Beach last night.

The Bees, brother-team of the Santa Ana Stars, will swing into action again tonight at Fullerton where they will oppose another National league combination.

Gene Hitt went the whole nine rounds for the Lackey entry at Long Beach and limited the hard-swinging Acorns to seven safeties, the same number the Bees were able to gather off Lloyd Litchewalter, Robinson and Groath.

The Santa Anans got their run in the third. Maness's homer tied the score in the fourth and the Acorns got their second and third scores in the seventh and eighth.

OLIVERS SCORE SIX IN 7TH, BEAT DONS
After pitching faultlessly for five innings, Orv Schuchardt, Santa Ana junior college southpaw, weakened in the sixth and seventh and was the victim of Huntington Beach high school rallies that gave the Oilers a 10 to 9 victory over the Dons at Huntington Beach yesterday. "Swede" Whisler was rushed to Schuchardt's rescue but he, too, could not hold back the prep team.

'POP' HUBLEY AND HIS TWO HIGH CARDS

"Pop" Hubley of San Diego and his two brilliant young boxing proteges, Lee Ramage and Tony Starr, are shown in the layout below. Ramage, upper left, meets Joe Goeders of Santa Ana at the Orange County Athletic club here tomorrow night. Starr, lower, is a favorite at Hollywood where he has beaten such men as Tony Fuente, Ed Herting and "Wild Bill" Thaler. Promoter H. T. Foust has completed arrangements for Starr's services as soon as a suitable opponent can be found.

The big "natural" rematch of the local boxing season matches Joe Goeders with Lee Ramage tomorrow night. Goeders, goaded by teasing friends as having a sympathetic referee on his side two weeks ago, will be a tough playmate and Ramage, on a rampage ever since the questionable decision, will be determined to erase the only black mark that graces his sensational record.

Promoter H. T. Foust is singing "Happy Days Are Here Again." The match is expected to draw near capacity.

50,000 ATTEND OPENING COAST LEAGUE GAMES
BY OTIS T. CARTWRIGHT
United Press Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—The season's late diners—warned over affairs—was in full swing in four California cities today. The Pacific Coast league pennant race was well under way with the second games of the twenty-eighth season scheduled for this afternoon.

More than 50,000 spectators jammed the ball parks at San Francisco, Sacramento, Oakland and Los Angeles yesterday afternoon to witness the opening day games. The Angeles defeated the Beavers at Los Angeles in a close game by a score of 3 to 2. Clyde Barfoot, Angel hurler, allowed only four hits. Carl Mays of Portland was rapped for three singles in succession for the Angels' winning run.

In San Francisco more than 12,000 cheering fans wildly yelled for victory as the Seals and Indians fought 12 innings to an 11 to 10 win for Seattle. The Indians were leading 9 to 2 in the ninth but the Seals drove in seven runs in a rally that bewildered the visitors and it wasn't until the 12th that Seattle scored two runs. In the last of the 12th the Seals scored another and would have scored a second to again tie the score if Pinelli, Seals third baseman, hadn't stopped running at third. Hollywood trounced Oakland at Oakland 4 to 1 with Hulvey hurling shutout ball for the Seals until the eighth. The Seals drove in all their runs in the third.

CONSOLIDATION OF PREPS AND JAYCEES NEAR

By EDDIE WEST
(Sports Editor of The Register)
The consolidation into one powerful conference all Southern California high schools which have junior colleges in connection was nearer consummation than ever today following a meeting here at which officials went so far as to draw up a new football schedule for the 1930 season.

This drastic step forward, a progressive one that is inevitable even if delayed temporarily by scholastic and sentimental red tape, now needs only the official sanction of the California Inter-scholastic federation, ruling board on all prep affairs.

Instead of wiping out the fast and colorful Coast Preparatory league with which Santa Ana has been affiliated since 1923, the consolidation as now planned will take in as members both Long Beach Polytechnic and Alhambra, leaving only San Diego out in the cold.

The officials took care of this situation satisfactorily by agreeing to schedule free-lance games with San Diego high school on their "bye" dates.

Acceptance by Long Beach and Alhambra of this scheme eliminates the only serious objection. Many high school athletic followers disapproved the severance so ruthless of old ties and had urged the C. I. F. to postpone for at least one year the new program.

Representatives of the institutions involved in the big merger—Santa Ana, Pasadena, Compton, Woodrow Wilson and Long Beach Poly of Long Beach, Glendale, Alhambra and Fullerton along with their respective junior colleges and that of Los Angeles jaycees—approved for submission to the C. I. F. a tentative schedule which gave Santa Ana's teams the following games next fall:

Oct. 11—Santa Ana high school at Woodrow Wilson, Long Beach; Long Beach junior college at Santa Ana.

Oct. 18—Santa Ana high school at Compton; Compton junior college at Santa Ana.

Oct. 25—Pasadena high school at Santa Ana; Santa Ana junior college at Pasadena.

Nov. 1—Santa Ana high school at Alhambra; Santa Ana junior college bye date to be filled with game at Phoenix, Ariz.

Nov. 8—Santa Ana high school at Glendale; Glendale junior college at Santa Ana.

Nov. 15—Long Beach Poly at Santa Ana; Santa Ana junior college at Los Angeles.

Nov. 22—Open. Santa Ana high school to play San Diego.

Nov. 27—(Thanksgiving)—Fullerton high school at Santa Ana; Santa Ana junior college at Fullerton.

CARNERA STOPS GLISBY IN 2ND ROUND OF BOUT

Copyright, 1929, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
LOS ANGELES, April 9.—Primo Carnera, giant Italian heavy-weight, scored the fourteenth consecutive knockout of his American ring viceroy here last night.

The former circus freak flattened Neil Glisby, Los Angeles Negro, in the second of their scheduled 10-round bout while such fans as Louie Fairbanks, Clara Mow, Mary Brian and Al Jolson differed over the merits of the accomplishment.

The 11,000 spectators who jammed the Olympic stadium seemed split over whether Glisby really was out or just decided that it was best not to get up until the referee counted ten.

In either event, Glisby, fighting at 188 pounds and giving a 75 pound advantage to Carnera, never had a chance.

He was down for a no count in the first round and the second was less than a minute old when Carnera placed a ponderous right hand to the Negro's jaw, ending the fight.

Glisby fell rather carefully and some of the fans thought he didn't try too hard to get on his feet.

During the bout Glisby landed only two blows and neither did any damage.

The gate was estimated at $33,500, of which Carnera received 50 per cent.

STANFORD ATHLETES EMBARK TOMORROW

FENTON SUSPENDED BY OAKLAND TEAM

OAKLAND, April 9.—Jack Fenton, Oakland first baseman, was on the suspended list of organized baseball today for failure to sign his 1930 contract, he walked out of a meeting with the Oaks owners yesterday without saying a word after they had made their latest and highest offer of this season. "Buz" Arlett, outfielder, held down the initial sack yesterday.

SCHEDULE FOR COUNTY NIGHT LOOP RELEASED

President George Peterkin has summoned his "guessers" to the offices of the state highway patrol in the courthouse at 7 o'clock for a discussion of rules and regulations.

The "prexy" was a busy man today, getting into shape the business affairs of the two leagues.

He announced that Al and Bill Bushman, waifs of the National league, had signed with Anaheim again; that Garden Grove had secured the signatures of three Santa Ana's, Robert Bowe, Jerry Heard and Earl ("Speed") Hanke-meier, and that the Santa Ana Stars had signed formally Pitchers Ray Price, Ed Banta and Walt Jordan and infielder Curtis Youel, and had released Glenn Stockbridge and "Doc" Greer.

MARSHALL WINS AGAIN

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9.—Everett Marshall today had his fifty-third wrestling victory safely tucked away and was still a leading contender for the world's championship by virtue of his defeat here last night of "Gorilla" Le Deaux, big "hold and fall man" of Canada.

DOCILE SHIRES PLAYING HARD FOR SOX CLUB

By DAVIS J. WALSH (I. N. S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 9.—Acting on information that comes from a source whose identity he cannot honorably disclose, the writer is in a position to announce exclusively today that there is a man playing first base for the Chicago White Sox by the name of Shires.

There had been rumors to this effect, but these were circulated on the unsupported word of men who only had seen Shires with the club. This, of course, is not conclusive. According to most of the ground rules, if you don't hear Shires, it isn't him.

The evidence, in fact, somewhat serves to disprove the identification. They say that man is docile, contrite, chastened, which almost automatically makes him somebody else. Nobody is being punched impulsively on the nose, not even his new overseer, Mr. Bush, who has been most unreasonable about insisting that everybody go to bed at least once a night. But nothing has happened, and now it appears that the man we are talking about may become thoroughly emboldened and go right out for the mixed doubles.

However, I am prepared to stand behind the statement that Shires is Shires. In the face of all evidence to the contrary, the proof of his identity is unassailable.

It is furnished by a recent photograph, showing that he remains as the only man to escape across the state line of Texas, wearing spats and carrying a cane.

Anyhow, I think it is very important news that Shires has found no occasion to strike either his manager or his club secretary in almost two weeks of association, although I have no doubt he has decided from time to time that both of them should be struck jointly and by turns.

Mr. Bush, for instance, must have turned out to be a big disappointment. He has been very overbearing and technical about what other people do with their sleep and, besides reading the riot act, he even sent one young man home and told him not to return.

This is the same party they used to call "Silent" Shires because, if you stood three blocks away and the wind wasn't favorable, you could hardly hear a word he said. I suspect that his silence is unnatural and must be due to shock.

Maybe the person who shocked him was Lendis, who told him what to do. It might have been Comiskey, who told him how to do it, and again it may have been Bush, who told him when to do it.

NEW YORK, April 9.—Tony Cansoneri of Brooklyn, former world featherweight champion, knocked out Frankie LaFay of Troy, in the first round of a scheduled 10-round bout at Broadway arena.

ROCKNE TO CONSULT MAYOS OVER HEALTH

CHICAGO, Ill., April 9.—Knute Rockne was on his way to the Mayo Brothers' clinic today to receive doctors' advice on how soon he will be able to resume his work of coaching the Notre Dame football team.

After two months rest in Florida, Rockne said he expected to receive the Mayo brothers' advice and follow it to get in shape for the football season.

"You know we have a hard season and are going to open our new stadium," he said. "I've got to be in shape for that."

The Story of a Girl Whose Secret Trained Her from New York to California

BY KATHLEEN NORRIS

(Copyright, 1930, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

THE STORY THUS FAR:

Dory Garrison, actress, fleeing from a painful romance in New York, goes to California and becomes acquainted with the large family of Penfields. Jerd Penfield falls in love with her. Wally Oliver, an actor who knows of her attachment to Bruce Macgowan, playwright, in New York, blackmails Dory just before her marriage. She has not told Jerd the extent of her affair with Bruce. Macgowan comes and Dory tells him that she really loves Jerd. She and Jerd are married. Jerd goes to the hospital for an operation on his leg.

CHAPTER 18

The Penfields waited in a hospital bedroom opposite Jerd's door. The nurse came down from the operating room to say that they had been a little late beginning, and that Mr. Penfield had taken the anaesthetic wonderfully. Then there was a halt. The nurse came in at eleven: Dory, obviously unconscious of what she was doing, seized her.

"Oughtn't he to be down?" "Oh, my dear, he's been down ten minutes. I thought you knew. He's back in his own bed."

"Now? And conscious?" "Conscious," the nurse echoed, with that offended air her profession so easily assumes under the questions of the uninitiate. "He'll not be conscious for another hour."

No, and another after that. It was so slow! It was three o'clock in the afternoon before Dory, seated near his bed, as quiet, as frightened, and helpless as a little bird in a snare, saw heavy intelligence in his loved eyes, robbed now of all their philosophy and laughter.

He could not even smile at her; he sank back into the rolling dark. She had known that she must kneel beside Jerd, like this, in this horrible room, known that she must hold his cold hands in her own, and call to him.

"Do you see any response, Mrs. Penfield?" "No, Jerd, dear, this is Dory."

She looked up at the doctor. "He stirred his fingers—"

They took her out of the room. Mrs. Penfield was quite silent; the Judge was weeping.

"What are they doing to him?" "Transfusion. They say he has a chance."

Nothing to do but wait. Nothing to do but wait. Alive. Alive. And darkness coming down. Another night.

"Mrs. Penfield?" "Yes! And she was on her feet, the world reeling dizzily about her. He seems to be almost conscious, and the doctor thinks if you'd just be near him."

And this time, in Jerd's dimly lighted room, she could see shadow of his own smile on the ravaged face, and that the colourless lips were forming words.

"Stick round—sweetheart." She sank down on her knees, her eyes luminous and smiling, her face quite composed, her fingers warm about his own.

"I won't go away again, Jerd." Then afterward, in the following dawn, the delight of a hot bath and a careful toilet, the deliciousness of coffee and rolls, the humble thankfulness with which she could meet the day.

She brought Jerd home for Thanksgiving, and he could sit in the garden, in the hot, still afternoons, among the late roses, and watch the croquet games, and listen to his mother's and his grandmother's even river of inexhaustible conversation.

On Christmas day he limped over to the big house without his crutch for the first time.

The Penfields staged it magnificently, in wreaths of evergreen and pointed huckleberry and holly, they dressed for it, they shared the responsibility for the feast. Presents were on all sides, the great tree was embedded in boxes and bundle. Cousins arrived from various points and added their own contributions to the general heap.

It appeared that a long walk and a picnic lunch were a part of the regular program, up through the farm buildings and into the rolling oak country of the hills. Jerd could not walk, but Dory drove him and the lunch to the appointed place, and they sat on young grass—for there had been early rains—and even found dandelions and poppies and buttercups in sheltered spots.

Late that night, when she had taken off her Christmas earrings, and set a Christmas photograph of Rhoda in a conspicuous position on her desk, and lighted Christmas candlesticks on her dresser, and wound her Christmas clock, and ranged other Christmas gifts neatly on the hall table for proper segregation tomorrow, Dory sat down on the edge of Jerd's bed and put her hand on his and said, with an odd shining light in her eyes: "But you know you've another present coming, Jerd."

"Help!" Jerd said faintly, expectantly.

"You get it," said Dory, "in mid-July."

He looked at her a minute without speaking. Then he put aside the book in which his fingers were still keeping place and laid his hand over hers.

"Dory!" "Yes, it's true."

"My God!" Jerd said in a whisper. And Dory knew it was a prayer.

"It's true."

"Dory, my darling! My little old sweetheart. How long have you known it?"

"I suspected it before you went to the hospital. And then I thought I'd keep it for a Christmas surprise."

"Dory! Ours, eh?"

He breathed hard for a few seconds, his eyes never leaving hers. "My darling," he whispered. "You're glad?"

"I was scared when you were ill, Jerd. But I'm beginning to be terribly glad."

Jerd reflected, his eyes shining. "For us to have a baby, Dory! It seems the queerest thing!"

"As if nobody ever had a baby before."

"That's the way it seems to me, too."

"I know. Won't it be the funniest thing to have people ask us, 'How's the baby?'"

So little Mrs. Penfield, a familiar figure now in the college town, in her furs, with the invariable white violets, didn't attend field days and teas any more, as the spring came along, and in late March Jerd and Dory went up to the cabin in the Santa Cruz mountains, and walked about the forest trails, under the redwoods, madrone and oak trees together, her steps as slow as his own, now.

They sat on logs, among the trembling green leafy awesomeness of the new foliage, with brown spotted mission bells and red columbine all about them, and Jerd's Alredale at their feet, and listened to the rushing of the brook, and the call of larks and forest birds, and were content. Mrs. Hooker, from the farm, sent them up rolls and pies and gingerbread, and Dory fried broilers and cooked asparagus better than Jerd had ever known either to be prepared before, and little Too Fah washed dishes and sang to himself in the lingering twilights. The fruit blossoms fell, and the leaves thickened, and read summer shadiness began to spread itself among the white-washed trunks of the orchard trees. Dory filled bowls with blue delphinium and starry Shasta daisies, and dreamed only of a small white belted figure running sturdily about in all this sweetness and greenness when another spring or two should have come and gone, with the birds and the bees making her first little world a heaven, and the sunshine dappling the little yellow head of another Mary.

"Only she can't be Mary. Too many Marys!"

"What was your mother's name, Dory?"

"Theodora—like me."

"Then why not Theodora, shortened to Teddy? It's cute."

"It seems such a formidable name to land on a scrap of a baby."

"It fits you."

"Let's wait and see if it fits her, Jerd. She might take after her father, and be long and leggy and big-boned."

"If she's only like her little ma!" Jerd said.

Fitts Urges Industrial Homes For Young Criminals

PROSECUTOR IS SPEAKER AT LA HABRA MEETING

California's greatest mistake in dealing with youthful criminals is to send them to the state prisons with hardened criminals. If they are not already criminals they will be when they are released from these institutions, and the only possible solution to this problem is to establish industrial institutions, where young people may be trained and educated to become useful citizens.

These were statements made by Buron Fitts, Los Angeles district attorney, at the meeting of the Methodist Men's Brotherhood, held last night at the social hall of the La Habra Methodist church, at which 275 men and women were present, including 30 Legionnaires, who were honor guests at the affair.

By establishing these industrial institutions within the state, youth would be kept in training and tided over the crime peak age and would not be influenced by hardened criminals, Fitts said.

Problems and responsibilities confronting the district attorney and his forces were enumerated by the speaker. He stated that the district attorney's office was now the second largest in the world, but that this week's record was expected to make it the largest in the world.

Records of the past two years, quoted by Fitts, show that 13,500 homes were robbed in Los Angeles year before last, while 5400 were robbed last year; 127 murders were committed year before last, while 52 last year 11,000 autos were stolen year before last, while 5700 were stolen last year, and 4100 people were held up in 1928, against 1600 in 1929.

A motion was made at the meeting by the Rev. Daniel Dundas that the Brotherhood give devotion and assistance to the speaker in any way possible that they might assist in any future tasks undertaken by the speaker.

Following the dinner served at 7 p. m., by the Ladies' aid, Ira E. Weide, president of the Brotherhood, presided. Mayor L. E. Proud responded with a short talk and introduced E. R. Berry, commander of the local Legion post, who in turn introduced the speaker of the evening. An invitation was extended to the Legionnaires to attend in a body a special meeting Thursday evening called "Fighting and Fun in France," conducted by Capt. Ted Evans, former officer of the seventh division in France, who is conducting evangelistic meetings at the church this week. A flute and violin duet was rendered by the Misses Ruth and Enid Dunavant, accompanied by Miss Esther Scribner, of Fullerton. Musical numbers were given by Eldon R. Farrar, singer and trombonist, and Jimmy Davis, pianist, of Long Beach.

MASONS LEARN OF PLANS FOR EASTER RITES

Santa Ana Masons have been notified of the Easter Sunday plans of the Scottish Rite bodies of Long Beach, which will celebrate at special services, known in their circles as "Re-lighting the Lights," in the Scottish Rite temple in the beach city, for members of all Masonic orders and their friends. Perry W. Weldner, who holds the second highest office in Commandery circles in the state and the highest in Scottish Rite circles in Southern California, will be the principal speaker.

Special affairs to follow this Easter program, will include the entertainment to be furnished by the Community Players on the night of April 24, when Orange county Blue lodge members will be guests of the Scottish Rite Masons in their temple. Since this comes during public school week in March, a prominent educator of the Southland will be speaker.

PICK HEADS OF COMMITTEES IN BOOSTER BODY

Standing committee chairmen for the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county for the year were getting their committees lined up today, following a meeting at Pana Point last night, called by the new president, J. S. Malcom, of San Juan Capistrano, who met with a number of past presidents and others. The chairmen will submit their committee appointments to the president before the next monthly meeting of the associated, at Yorba Linda, April 29.

Most of last year's chairmen were re-named. Lotus London, of Anaheim, last year's president, was made chairman of the advisory committee. Other chairmen for the year are as follows: Agriculture, H. E. Wahlberg, Santa Ana; aviation, W. J. Carmichael, Fullerton; county planning, Dr. Walter Big-ham, Anaheim; education, H. A. Lake, Garden Grove; good roads, J. A. Smiley, Orange; harbor development, Lew Wallace, Newport Beach; industrial, J. C. Bliss, Anaheim; legislative, G. C. Macleod, Balboa; publicity, V. D. The action taken by the Associated at its annual meeting regarding the filing on rocks off the Orange county coast was renewed. The new president and the secretary, H. M. May, of Fullerton, also were asked to get in touch with the city officials of Laguna Beach and others so as to carry out the policy of the organization, which is to oppose such filing.

S. H. Woodruff, Dana Point, who was host at a dinner before the meeting, said that he was in hearty sympathy with the Associated's action and that he had filed on two rocks off Dana Point merely to protect them from being filed on by others and to save them for the community.

Yesterday afternoon a delegation of Associated members viewed the new Ortega highway, started about a year ago and eventually to connect San Juan Capistrano and Elsinore. They also were shown through San Juan Capistrano mission by the Rev. Father St. John O'Sullivan. They saw the hotel development in the Dana Point inn, now under construction. The San Juan Capistrano Woman's club served orange juice to the party.

Those at the meeting included President J. S. Malcom, Vice President O. T. Stephens, La Habra; Secretary H. M. May, Fullerton; Past Presidents Lotus London, Anaheim, J. P. Greeley, Balboa, Lew H. Wallace, Newport Beach, Jess Armitage, Sunset Beach, L. F. Coburn, Orange, and Harry Hale, Placentia; Past Secretary G. C. Macleod, Balboa; W. D. Miller, Seal Beach, and Harry Welch, of Balboa, president and secretary, respectively, of the Orange County Coast association; Ralph Whitaker, E. B. Deupree and Carl Hankey, San Juan Capistrano; W. REVEALS DATES OF PRE-SCHOOL CHILD CLINICS

"A child who is physically unfit for school work constitutes an expensive luxury for the taxpayers to support," Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, declared today, in calling attention to the advisability of physical examinations for youngsters who will enter school for the first time next fall.

"The state is spending millions of dollars upon the education of its children," Dr. Sutherland continued. "Every child attending the public schools who is not physically fit, who has diseased adenoids or tonsils, whose teeth are decayed, whose sight or hearing is defective or who suffers from any other physical defect, is a source of unproductive expenditure to the taxpayer, for he cannot derive the benefits that educational facilities provide.

"Parents of children who will enter school for the first time next fall, in justice to the child, to themselves and to their fellow taxpayers, should consult their family physician in regard to the physical condition of these pre-school children or should take advantage of the opportunity being afforded the public by the local and state health departments co-operating with the local and state Congress of Parents and Teachers, whereby parents may secure for their children free physical examinations.

"Remediable defects discovered at these examinations can then be corrected before the opening school, so that these children may enter upon the school year physically able to meet the many new problems that will arise during the first year of school life. These physical examinations are being conducted free of charge by doctors of the health department, and in some localities by local physicians who have offered their services.

"Previous physical examination clinics which have been conducted during the past six weeks in various localities throughout the county, have been well attended."

Schedules for future clinics are as follows: April 11, 1:30 p. m., Huntington Beach; April 11, 9:30 a. m., Alamitos; April 11, 9:30 a. m., Buena Park (Lindberg School); April 21, 9:30 a. m., Buena Park (Grand Ave.); April 22, 9 a. m., Westminster (American); April 23, 9 a. m., Centralia; April 25, 9 a. m., Seal Beach; April 25, 2 p. m., Santa Ana (Jefferson); April 28, 1:30 p. m., El Modena (American); April 29, 9 a. m., Los Alamitos (Laurel); April 29, 1:30 p. m., Santa Ana (Roosevelt); April 30, 9 a. m., Paulatino.

Swiftest, Easiest Way to End Bilious Spell

When you neglect those first symptoms of constipation—bad breath, coated tongue, listlessness, the whole system soon suffers. Appetite lags. Digestion slows up. You become headachy, dizzy, bilious. It's easy to correct sluggish bowel action. Take a candy Cascaret tonight. See how quickly and pleasantly—the bowels are activated. All the souring waste is gently propelled from the system. Regular and complete bowel action is restored. Cascarets are made from pure cascar, a substance which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. All drug stores have Cascarets. 10c—Adv.

Says Census Will Give City 36,000 Population Total

What figures will the 1930 census reveal for the population of Santa Ana? County Clerk J. M. Backs has estimated that the total will be approximately 37,500, basing his estimate on registration. Today Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan made his guess. He expects that in the neighborhood of Santa Ana 36,000 people will be counted.

His computation was contained in the 1920 edition of the California Official Register, which contains the names of all city, county, state and federal officers. California's population will be about 6,000,000 on the census books, Jordan thinks. It is estimated by the department of finance that in 1950 the state will have a population of 13,000,000.

RIFT IN STATE TUBERCULOSIS BODY AVOIDED

A. J. Cruickshank, H. A. Lake, Mrs. Amelia Meagher and Dr. John Wehry were home today from Merced, where they attended a meeting of the California Tuberculosis association as representatives of the Orange County Tuberculosis association.

The conference of delegates proved a stormy one, with an open split between factions and threats of organization of two associations in the state. Final adjustment was made and an agreement reached that a meeting of

COUNTY PEACE OFFICERS PLAN BENEFIT SHOW

A gigantic benefit show, featuring headline vaudeville acts, will be staged in the open air theater at Anaheim on May 9 and 10 by the Orange County Peace Officers' association, it was announced today. It is expected that the affair will eclipse any similar production heretofore presented in the county.

The entertainment committee, J. M. Pearson and J. C. Gregory, Fullerton, declared today that they have made arrangements with leading vaudeville booking offices in Los Angeles to provide a large number of outstanding vaudeville acts, and for assistance in other ways.

Tickets for the benefit are on sale and every member of the Orange County Peace Officers' association is engaged in the sales campaign. Six prizes have been announced and will be awarded to the six officers selling the largest number of tickets. The prizes so far announced include a tailored uniform, a $35 strap watch, on display at 113 West Fourth street, Santa Ana, a $15 chromium plated "Road-Lite" with bracket, and a $10 clothing merchandise order.

accredited representatives of county organizations be called at some future date for reorganization of the state association under provisions of a proposed new charter.

In the opinion of Lake, who is president of the county association, when the new state association is created, it will be incorporated to comply with requirements of the national association.

WALKS LIKE MAN

The only dog in the world that always walks erect, it is believed, is Shep, owned by John Rattigan of near Council Bluffs, Ia. Caught in a wolf trap, Shep released himself by chewing off both his forelegs. Since then he has taught himself to walk upright and gets along quite well. Humane officers want to kill the dog, but Rattigan refuses.

ORCHESTRA TO PLAY POPULAR MUSICAL WORK

One of the most interesting numbers on the symphonic concert program that will be presented in the high school auditorium next Tuesday at 8:15 p. m. by the Santa Ana Symphony orchestra, under the direction of D. C. Clafoni, will be the colorful modern work, "Capriccio Espagnole," by N. Rimsky-Korsakoff, famous Russian composer and important member of the Nationalist school.

Arranged by its composer for grand orchestra, and composed in 1887, this celebrated "Capriccio" enjoys a popularity among concert goers that is universal. It is highly praised by musical authorities of various nations, no less a celebrity than Tschalkovsky terming it a "colossal masterpiece of instrumentation."

The "Capriccio" is divided into five characteristic movements, designated as "Alborada," "Variazioni," "Alborada," "Scene e canto gitano," and "Fandango asturiano." Thoroughly Spanish in character, the work is brilliantly scored, containing some epoch-making combinations of instruments. Altogether the work is considered a monument to the composer's flair for orchestral color.

The "Capriccio" was first performed on October 31, 1887, by the orchestra of the Imperial Opera, St. Petersburg, with the composer conducting personally.

Single admission tickets for Thursday evening's concert are now on sale at the Santa Ana Book store.

Mrs. Carl Thrasher Is Incentive For Bridge Dinner

Mrs. Carl Thrasher (Cecyl Drake) was the incentive last night for a bridge dinner given by Mrs. J. Frank Burke and Mrs. Loyal King in the home of the latter on Panorama Heights. Mrs. Thrasher is the head of the proof department on the Register and was married recently at Yuma.

Dinner was served in the living room, and the shaded lights and yellow glow from tall tapers in pastel tints, with bowls of fragrant stock furnished a pleasant setting for the affair. The twinkling lights in the valley below and the soft glow of gaily drifting in from the sea over the lowlands were a part of the lovely view to be seen from the long windows.

Dinner was served at the small tables, each with an exquisite service of crystal in amber, rose, and aqua blue. Nut baskets were fluffy flowers in pastel tints and place cards carried the bride and groom.

Following the dinner, the guest of honor was presented with a set of rock crystal plates in exquisite design, a gift from the Register, six lovely goblets in the same design by members of the business office staff and a crystal comport by the women of the editorial staff.

Mrs. Thrasher was also presented with the Register loving cup which is given to each successful bridge player in the organization. The cup was given to her by Mrs. J. V. Minahan.

At the bridge game, high score went to Mrs. Eleanor Elliott, second to Mrs. Ames McBroome and third to Mrs. Marah Adams. The winners were given their choices of the lovely flowers used in the decorations.

Guests for the pleasant occasion besides the two hostesses and the honor guest, Mrs. Carl Thrasher, were the Mesdames Eleanor Young Elliott, Marah Adams, W. Maxwell Burke, Ames McBroome, Rose Azus, Charles R. Kendall Jr., J. V. Minahan, Miss Helen Lutz, Miss Cora Holt, Miss Dorothy Clarkson and Miss Naomi Keller.

Yuma Wedding of Santa Ana Couple Revealed Today

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. George Ashman today were congratulating them upon the announcement which was made of their wedding Saturday. Mr. Ashman, who is the son of Mrs. M. E. Ashman of 119 Grand avenue, and Mrs. Ashman, who was formerly Miss Eva Vanhook, daughter of D. M. Duke of 620 East Pine street, slipped away last week to Yuma, Ariz., to be married.

On the wedding trip, Mrs. Ashman wore a smart frock of blue silk, with aqua blue panama hat and accessories in light beige. The couple are at home to their friends at 620 East Pine street.

The bride was graduated from the Santa Ana high school, and Mr. Ashman attended school in Kansas. He has been on the Santa Ana Register staff for the past five years.

Prohibition Straw Vote Disproved By W. C. T. U.

Pledging themselves to take no part in the straw vote on the prohibition question which is being conducted by the Literary Digest and other publications, members of the W. C. T. U. gave the reasons for their stand at the regular meeting of the organization yesterday at the bungalow of the First Congregational church.

The straw vote weakens public confidence in the stability of the government as well as respect for the law of the land, it was declared, and women present pledged themselves to refuse to countenance the publications promoting the vote and agreed not to subscribe for them or to encourage others to do so until such time as their policies should be given up.

It was announced that there would be a Matrons' silver medal contest next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Reformed Presbyterian church. The public is invited.

Mrs. Evans gave a reading by Edward Guest, "It Couldn't Be Done." Mrs. W. H. McPeck led very appropriate devotional services on the subject of "Peace."

The subject for discussion for the afternoon was "Americanization" and the union was favored by hearing Mrs. Golden Norwood Weston who is supervisor of the Americanization work in the Santa Ana schools. She gave a splendid address on the subject.

Mrs. Harter, director of the Americanization department, gave a fine report of the work and spoke of some special work in the homes of the Mexican people. The progress of people of this nationality is evidenced in the talks given at the regular meetings.

Mrs. Estelle Harper, county president, was present and gave a very encouraging talk on W. C. T. U. work. She reported that three new unions were organized recently in the county, one at Buena Park, at Cypress and at Brea. Each union is doing splendid work in getting many new members.

S. L. Gonzales was introduced and spoke.

The reports of the membership drive were very encouraging and the teams and workers will meet at the Congregational bungalow on Friday night at 5 p. m., to make reports on the drive.

Miss Schenck Shows Fossil Specimen

The Nature Study class of the Santa Ana Business and Professional Woman's club were intensely interested in a fossil from the Ginkgo tree (Palm tree) of Tennessee, which was displayed in the meeting at the Frances Willard junior high school last night. The fossil was taken from a tree in a railroad tunnel 200 feet under ground, according to Miss Doris Schenck, teacher of nature study in the city schools who was special speaker at the class last night. She also exhibited wild flowers and showed slides of birds as she lectured.

Proceeding her address, Miss Vanche Plumb gave a highly entertaining and informative talk on desert and mountain shrubbery. She had many wild flowers to illustrate her facts.

State and District Officers Attend Meeting

"Java, the land of luxury, a tropical country which shows the spirit of Holland in its canals, and whitewashed houses with tiled roofs," was vividly brought before the members of the Yorba Linda Woman's club Tuesday afternoon by Miss Katherine J. Smith of La Jolla, parliamentary leader of the southern district and past district chairman of international relations.

The program was given in honor of reciprocity day and present with Miss Smith were Mrs. Marcus Robbins, of San Diego, president of the southern district; Robert E. Masters, of San Diego, state chairman of the department of crafts and industries; Mrs. Joseph Thurston of Laguna Beach, chairman of the Orange county federation; Mrs. Walter F. Kogler, of Orange, county chairman of music, who was in charge of the program for the afternoon. These guests were introduced by the president, Miss Una MacClatchie, each responding with a short speech.

The Japanese were described by Miss Smith as a people whose salvation lay in the fact that they had been forced to work, and living under what she termed "the most highly successful and efficient colonial government in the world."

For 400 years they have been ruled by Holland, and while the population of other islands has been reduced to almost nothing, the people of Java have multiplied 15 times under Dutch rule and there are now 40,000,000 people in the island, which has an area about that of New York state, said the speaker.

The Dutch rule has been stern, but just, honest and fair, and as the privileges of the nobles have not been taken away, the common class does not even suspect that Holland rules them, Miss Smith declared.

"The Dutch men who go to the island are first highly trained for the positions, and spend the remainder of their lives in the island, often marrying Japanese women, who are accorded the legal and social status of their husbands."

After the speaker, the palace of the governor-general was described, a building five times larger than the White House, set in a 90-acre park which is the most famous botanical garden in the world. In this garden is a rubber tree which has produced 30 tons of rubber.

Flowers, trees and fruits of the country were also described, including the most peerless fruit in the world, the mangosteen, which is so delicate that it spoils in a few hours after being picked. All the spices of the world grow in the islands, but there has been a tremendous falling off in the spice industry because of improved methods of refrigeration, Miss Smith told her audience.

Habits and manners of the people of the country were described, and one of the most amazing things was the ceremony which we would call luncheon.

Mrs. Kogler was in charge of the program, the first number of which was a monologue, "Ask Me Another," by Miss Flo Scarrett of Orange. Mrs. Kogler then sang four Indian love lyrics, accompanied by Mrs. Raymond Warren of Orange. The numbers were "The Temple Bells," "Less Than the Dust," "Kashmir Love Song," and "Till I Awake."

Refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served by the hostesses, who were members of the executive board. Mesdames C. H. Seaman, H. A. MacClatchie, S. W. Acker and Jeanette Blatner presided at the coffee urns at the two beautifully decorated tables, one of which was decorated with yellow flowers and tall candles of the same colors; the other table was decorated in orchid. Baskets of spring flowers about the room were in orchid and yellow, and with the same colors repeated in the draperies and the effect was most charming.

Hostesses were Miss Una MacClatchie, Miss Marsha Vernon, Mrs. H. W. Gendar, Mrs. J. A. Small, Mrs. Frank P. Day, Mrs. V. C. Barbe, Mrs. P. S. Amstutz, Mrs. Lawrence Baker, Mrs. A. C. Pickering, Mrs. V. L. Adams, Mrs. C. H. Eichler, Mrs. Enlie Boege, Mrs. Willis Van Cleave, Mrs. J. A. Small.

Thomas Radfords Reveal Wedding

The marriage of Miss Bertie Rhea Franklin to Thomas Radford of this city, which occurred at 1 o'clock Sunday in La Habra, was beautiful in its unassuming simplicity. The charming bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Franklin of Boise, was given in a peach chiffon with accessories to harmonize. She wore a corsage bouquet of white blossoms and was unattended.

A reception was held for the young couple at the home of the bride's parents immediately following the wedding. Many friends were gathered to congratulate them before they left for Santa Barbara, where they planned to make their permanent home as Mr. Radford is in business there. The bride wore a yellow and white sports outfit for traveling.

Shades of pink furnished the color scheme carried out in the appointments of the home and handsome wedding gifts were presented to the newlyweds as compliments from relatives and friends.

American Pioneers Honored at First Baptist Dinner

President Hoover's request to honor American Pioneers was the incentive for the dinner party in the First Baptist church Tuesday evening.

Members of the Men's club were the honored guests of the Women's society at a 6:30 dinner. Upon entering the dining room, days of old were recalled by the "dappled gray" hitched to the "Runabout." Seated in the buggy was Mrs. E. A. Maher, quaintly dressed in an old fashioned print and sunbonnet to match. Her gallant companion was J. A. Tarpley.

On the tables were red table cloths, silver and pewter service, china and glassware of a century ago. Each table was presided over by hosts and hostesses, and had been given such titles as "Fortyniners," "Plum Hollow," "Skeeter Swamp," "Sorghum Center" and "Tustin Gulch." Before the old fashioned songs were completed old songs and stunts were heard from these various districts of "Hick County."

Mrs. E. A. Bell, president of the hostess organization, introduced Elmer Steffenson, a conspicuous character of the evening, as sheriff. The sheriff then called his deputies. Other important personages were the "Friendly Undertaker," Mac O. Robbins, the Country Doctors, Frank Ashmore and S. L. Aubin; the justice of the peace, A. R. Marshall.

The formal program opened with the presentation of a lovely banquet to Mrs. J. F. Boese, as a compliment to her husband, who is president of the Men's club. The women then initiated Mr. Harry Evan Owings, as Honorable Big Brother; R. Fred Chambers, as Honorable Little Brother; I. F. Boese and E. A. Bell, as Big Brothers. This humorous ceremony afforded much amusement.

The remainder of the evening was given over to singing old time songs, dialogues and recitations. Laura Skinner's "Silver Threads Among the Gold" and "Johnnie Smoker" by Mr. and Mrs. Mit Phillips were special features.

The Village Strollers, under the leadership of Mrs. Charles Nalle, were heard in "Rachel, I've Been Thinking," "Clementine" and "Dina's Quelling Party." Mrs. W. Frank Harris was organist. "Good-night, Brethren" was sung by the women and quickly responded to by the men in "Good-night, Ladies."

Mrs. E. A. Bell in her flowered pink gown of 50 years ago, with its buffed sleeves and lace ruffles, and a picture hat to match, graciously bade her guests good night, giving many of them dainty old fashioned boutonnières.

The "sociable" gathered together 260 guests and the costumes represented the Norwegians of Minnesota, to the aristocrats of Louise Anna, the cultured New Englanders and the natives of Southern California.

Mrs. Percy Gammell, press chairman of the local association, urges all Santa Anans to take advantage of this opportunity to hear Mrs. Harford and today extended a special invitation to the general public to attend the service.

Los Alamitos Club Entertains County Clubwomen

The bi-monthly executive board meeting of the Orange County Federation of Women's clubs was held on Monday in Los Alamitos with presidents and county chairmen from every club in the county present. The hostess club consists of only eighteen members but their fine spirit was reflected in their hospitality extended to the visiting clubwomen. The clubhouse is a large deserted hotel building and a cozy fire in the open fireplace, artistic bowls of bright flowers made the setting most attractive.

Mrs. Joseph S. Thurston, of Laguna, county president, presided. The flag salute was led by Mrs. Alma Maler, of Garden Grove, chairman of American citizenship. Mrs. Walter F. Kogler of Orange, chairman of music, directed the singing, led the community singing and gave an informal selection following the luncheon.

During the business meeting reports were heard from the various chairmen and a general conference was held, discussing mutual problems and offering suggestions for more efficient work in all departments.

Mrs. S. W. Stanley, of Tustin, gave a gratifying report of the Orange county health camp conditions. It was suggested that there are a number of necessary articles which would be very acceptable for the improvement of the camp, and any club members wishing to do sewing or philanthropic work during the summer months were asked to phone Mrs. Stanley who will give lists of articles, dimensions and other information.

The Orange County convention will be held in Huntington Beach on April 25, it was announced. Mrs. Thurston urged presidents to return their questionnaires promptly and in full as detailed reports are requested. Annual reports will be given by all county chairmen. Names of delegates must be in the hands of Mrs. George Story, 127 West Malvern avenue, Fullerton, in time for proper credentials to be filed. Luncheon reservations should be made with the hostess president, Mrs. Sylvia Conrad, box 147, Huntington Beach, phone 6721, within a reasonable time. It is expected that this convention will be replete with inspiration and interest and all club women as well as the appointed voting delegates will be welcome. The foundation fund, re-districting and numerous other subjects of vital interest will be considered.

Club women expecting to attend the bi-monthly convention in Denver were asked to notify Mrs. Alvin Beck, 1020 North Flower street, Santa Ana. All members intending to avail themselves of the special train rates to the Oakland state convention were asked to communicate with Mrs. Joseph Thurston, 614 Park avenue, Laguna Beach.

Announcement was made of the coming lecture by Will Rogers, sponsored by the Santa Ana Ebell club on April 11. Tickets are on sale at the Santa Ana Book store, it was said.

During the luncheon hour, Mrs. Elmer L. Johns, president of the Los Alamitos club, extended a cordial welcome to the guests, the response being made by Mrs. R. E. Downs, county vice president.

Miss Mae Norton, Los Angeles manager of a number of artists and lectures, was introduced and expressed her desire to co-operate with clubs of this community in programs at reasonable rates, bringing them the best possible Mrs. Lettney, of Pasadena, past state chairman of the endowment fund, spoke a few words of greetings.

There were two guests of honor of the day who spoke in the afternoon. Mrs. Clara Heywood, state chairman of International Relations, gave a stirring address on "The World Peace Plan." She urged clubwomen to do all within their power to tear down the present war machinery and to build up a peace plan. She wished the clubs individually and collectively to endorse the World Court and the League of Nations. The three main points to be overcome are indifference, ignorance and inertia, she declared.

Mrs. W. W. Green, junior past president of the state federation gave a most enlightening talk on the present motion picture situation. Mrs. Green is now state chairman of this department and is in direct contact with the producers and heads of production companies. She told of the many problems and the efforts being made to solve them. Mrs. Green stated that unfortunately this department is not sufficiently financed and in connection with the urgent need for an increased budget she asked that the clubs co-operate in the proposed foundation fund. Mrs. Green is living at present in Los Angeles at 1248 West 40th place.

The radio and the movies are the two greatest forces in the United States at present, it was said.

GERMS IN YOUR POWDER PUFF

Cleanliness being next to godliness is not a joke, even if the average woman's POWDER PUFF thinks it is!

How women can be so blind to personal dirtiness and skin hygiene is more than I can puzzle out.

They spend dollars in dollars on lotions for "deep pore cleansing," tissue creams for night use, vanishing creams and choice powders for make-up, and then proceed to rub in an accumulation of rank grime by using a dirty powder puff on freshly cleansed faces... slightly incongruous, don't you think?

Invest a dollar in ten small powder puffs and use them just as you would clean hose, a clean puff for every day. It is no trick to wash and dry powder puffs; just drop them into a bowl of hot, sudsy water to soak for 15 minutes, then rub between the fingers until soil is washed off. Rinse thoroughly. Squeeze dry and hang up to dry. Many skin diseases can be definitely traced to the use of dirty powder puffs. That's the hygiene end of the question... need I go into the question of the "hall mark" that denotes a gentlewoman?

TODAY'S RECIPE

OATMEAL BREAD

1 cup coarse oatmeal cooked in 3 cups boiling salted water
3 cups white flour
1-2 teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons baking powder
1-2 cups sweet milk
Chopped walnuts and few raisins
Cook the oatmeal in salted boiling water (above measure) for one hour. Do this in a double boiler to avoid burning. Add to the cooked oatmeal one and one-half cups of cold sweet milk and beat smooth. Put it in a big bowl and let it get quite cold.

Sift measured flour with salt and baking powder three times. Add in small amounts to the oatmeal mixture, keeping the batter very smooth. A few chopped walnuts and raisins may be added if the loaf is liked a little richer. Have small deep bread tins well oiled, pour in batter to fill a little over half full, set where the batter will rise for 10 minutes, then bake in a moderate oven for 45 minutes, protecting the top of the loaf with paper to prevent browning too much. This bread is delicious hot or cold.

Inside Story of Present Day Society

(This is the fourth of a series of articles written by Margaretta Roberts, who has been social secretary in the homes of some of the country's wealthiest families.)

This same dowager also was proud of seeing her name in the newspapers. Each year she gave a picnic to the inmates of a children's home in Newport, and each year the papers devoted several columns of type to the philanthropy of the dowager. A year rolled around, however, when she happened to feel most economical. She didn't want to give any party to the children. It would cost too much, she decided.

However, one of her friends chanced to remark that if there was no picnic there would be no nice newspaper story, and that made the society lady stop and think.

She sent for me and ordered me to carry out the picnic with the least possible expense. The next day the picnic passed through the streets of Newport. It consisted of one motor truck containing about fifteen children who were driven to the nearest woods and given one ice cream cone and a bag of peanuts as "refreshments." That's all there was to the dowager's entertainment.

But she called up the papers, explained that she had given her customary picnic, and was rewarded by seeing the usual column of laudatory praise of her charity.

The climber, however, cannot hope to succeed at such tricks. They are reserved for the old, firmly entrenched members of society, and the social aspirant must be prepared to pave her way with gold.

GOLD DIGGER FILM IN NATURAL COLOR

Warner Bros. all-color, all-talking, singing and dancing Vitaphone picture, "Gold Diggers of Broadway," is one of the biggest hits that enterprising firm of film innovators has ever produced. It was shown in Santa Ana last night at Walker's State theater, where it was acclaimed by the capacity audience as top notch screen entertainment in the new style. And the colors were clearly defined-but with the softness of pastel.

"Gold Diggers of Broadway" is first of all a spanking good comedy. It has most of the smart comedy dialogue that made Avery Hopwood's play, on which it was founded, such a hit. Nine new songs and a show-within-a-show, in which the songs are sung, were then interpolated, a chorus of 100 dancing and singing, dazzling Hollywood beauties, engaged and the color cameras set to grinding. The result is entertainment de luxe which sets a new goal for other pictures to aim at.

DENNIS KING STARS IN 'VAGABOND KING'

Dennis King, whose golden voice has raised him to the heights in all-talking singing pictures, gives a remarkable performance in "The Vagabond King," which is now showing at the Fox West Coast theater. The picture opened there Monday and plays through Friday night.

"The Vagabond King," all in technicolor, is the story of a vagabond's rise to the kingdom of France for the period of one week. The wily old king, played by O. P. Heggie, needs a fighter to defend the gates of Paris against the Bulgarians, and King, playing the role of Villon, king of the vagabonds, is selected.

How he is transformed into a king, how he wins the war, and the king's niece, are the highlights of the production, but the great singing in the picture is probably the most outstanding feature. "If I Were King," "Song of the Vagabonds" and "Only a Rose," are sung by both King and Jeannette MacDonald, leading lady, who was seen here recently in "The Love Parade."

Miss MacDonald has a wonderful voice, which she displays with rare charm in several numbers. Warner Oland and Lillian Roth also have important roles.

A Paramount talker, all-talking, and a Fox Movietone news reel also are shown.

ANOTHER LEGEND SHOT WASHINGTON, April 9.-Those pictures you see of Eskimos in snow houses are the bunk-at least in the majority of cases-according to the U. S. Bureau of American Ethnology. Of the 30,000 Eskimos in North America and Greenland, not half have ever seen a snow house. Igloos were once used extensively, but civilization has replaced these primitive huts with more modern abodes.

The loss to the world each year by rusting is said to be more than $2,500,000,000.

STAGE AIR BATTLE IN 'YOUNG EAGLES'

"Young Eagles," successor to "Wings," Paramount all-talking feature, starring Charles Buddy Rogers, is now showing at the Fox Broadway theater.

The picture has everything that "Wings" had and besides is in full dialogue. It is one of the best air pictures seen here in several months.

The story concerns a youthful American officer, played by Rogers, who is in love with an American girl, residing in Paris. After plotting their troth he is sent back to the front and in a daring air battle, manages to capture an ace of the German air forces, bringing him to earth unharmed.

Rogers is sent to Paris with the prisoner for the purpose of getting him drunk and making him talk. In Paris, his girl gives a big party and the German officer, her German secret service pin. The German and the girl leave under cover of darkness after stealing Rogers' clothes.

Disgraced, the youthful aviator returns to the front and in another battle is the show down. How the picture ends, how the German, the girl and Buddy meet again, makes a startling climax to the film.

"All Teed Up," with Charlie Chase, in his latest all talking film, and a Fox Movietone news reel also are shown.

IRVINE

IRVINE, April 9.-Ransler Baker, of the Joe Irvine place, recently visited his brother-in-law, Fred Kelly, who has been confined to a hospital in Los Angeles since he was seriously injured in an airplane accident some days ago. His parents and Mrs. Maurice Graham, wife of the missing mail pilot, were visitors the same time.

Allen Russell, of Pomona, flew down in his plane Wednesday noon to visit his brother, Joe Russell, of Chino.

Hildred Wetzel, of El Toro, visited Thursday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Parham. Lyle Baker suffered a severe injury to his neck Thursday morning while playing at school, when he slipped on the cement steps. He was given immediate attention by a physician and is reported as feeling better.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The doves still fluttered 'round about and Clowdy shouted, "Hey! Look out! Supposin' they should peck us. That would be no fun, I'll bet." The Travel Man then said, "Well, say, there is a store not far away. They have some grain these birds will like. That's what I'll go and get."

He left the Tinies to their fun and on his way began to run. "Please hurry back," one Tiny cried. "We'll all be waiting here. And bring some grain. That will be great. Come back before it gets too late. I know that what we plan to do will bring these doves real cheer."

It wasn't long till he returned and then the Tinies learned the way to feed a flock of doves. They thought it was real sport. Each one would hold grain in his hand and then a dove would come and stand upon his thumb and eat it fast. There were doves of every sort.

They soon were on their way again because they all ran out of grain. The Travel Man said, "We will take a street car. Follow me! I know a place that you'll think fine and it's right near the street car line." They hopped aboard a car, all feeling cheerful as could be.

They rode until the Travel Man said, "Come, get off!" And off they ran. Not far away they came upon a building. My 'twas well, "The Palace of Versailles is this!" And it's a sight you shouldn't miss," explained the friendly Travel Man. "Now, look it over well!"

"Oh, I have read of this in books," said Coppy. "My, how fine it looks! Let's walk around the place and see all that there is to see." So here and there they gaily went and 'bout a half an hour was spent in looking. All the bunch were just as thrilled as they could be.

2. Change but one letter at a time and be sure the word you have used is one in good usage.
3. The order of the letters cannot be changed.

of the principle of the separation of church and state, so that their church constituencies, as well as the public at large, may be informed and so condemn such practices."

The Massachusetts congressman charged that the federal council of churches "attempts to influence congress on both domestic and foreign policies."

He said it received one-fourth of its income from churches and the other three-fourths from other sources, the latter sums, he said, totaling $254,000 in 1926; $232,000 in 1927 and $236,000 in 1929.

Persons interested in international banking, international business and other international interests contribute large sums, he said, and these contributions are made, he charged, to influence the political activities of the organization.

Though it has attempted to influence his vote, he continued, it has refused to give him a list of those who contributed more than $500. He urged the committee to get a list of the contributors.

Tinkham denied that in seeking an investigation of Dr. William and the Methodist board he is "appealing to religious bigotry."

The board, he declared, offers a "flagrant example" of interference by an organized church with the state.

Many wet and dry leaders were present to hear Tinkham. Upon inquiry from Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, a Catholic, the Massachusetts congressman said the purpose of the card index of religious affiliation kept by the organization was for "political purposes," and recalled that Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, had been approached "as a Methodist" to support legislation.

Walsh expressed the view that the record was published in the board's magazine a matter of "justifiable pride" because there are more members of the Methodist church in congress than any other denomination.

Three of these congressmen—John T. Buckeye, Rockford; W. R. Johnson, Freeport, and John C. Allen, Monmouth—are Republicans. The fourth is W. W. Arnold, Robinson, a Democrat.

Oscar D. Priest, Chicago, Republican Negro congressman, who created a national furor in a series of addresses following the attendance of Mrs. D. Priest at a White House tea at which Mrs. Herbert Hoover was hostess, has been returned as the Republican nominee in the first state congressional district.

Fred A. Britten, Chicago, Republican chairman of the house naval affairs committee, was unopposed for the nomination.

W. E. Hull, Peoria, was credited as being victor over Everett M. Dirksen, Pekin, baker, for the Republican nomination in the 16th district.

Edward R. Denison, Marion, dry Republican congressman, who gained the national spotlight when a trunkful of liquor was delivered to his office, appeared to have won his nomination.

M. A. Michaelson, Chicago, also a dry Republican congressman, who figured prominently in connection with charges that he brought a trunkful of liquor into this country from Cuba but of which he was later cleared, had tougher going. His nomination was still in doubt today as a result of a vigorous campaign by James C. Moreland.

Other sitting congressmen who apparently have won renomination are: Republicans—Morton D. Hull, Chicago, E. V. Sproul, Chicago, Frank R. Reid, Aurora; Homer W. Hall, Bloomington; W. P. Holaday, Georgetown and Dr. Ed M. Irwin, Belleville.

Democrats—James T. Igoe, Chicago; Stanley H. Kunz, Chicago; and Henry T. Rainey, Carrollton.

other candidates. There was no contest among the Democrats, as Walter D. Nesbit, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois Miners union, and W. H. Dietrich, Beardstown, were the only candidates.

In other congressional races most all sitting congressmen appear to have been nominated.

Four congressmen who were nominated without opposition what was equivalent to election as the rival party is without a candidate.

Three of these congressmen—John T. Buckeye, Rockford; W. R. Johnson, Freeport, and John C. Allen, Monmouth—are Republicans. The fourth is W. W. Arnold, Robinson, a Democrat.

Oscar D. Priest, Chicago, Republican Negro congressman, who created a national furor in a series of addresses following the attendance of Mrs. D. Priest at a White House tea at which Mrs. Herbert Hoover was hostess, has been returned as the Republican nominee in the first state congressional district.

Fred A. Britten, Chicago, Republican chairman of the house naval affairs committee, was unopposed for the nomination.

W. E. Hull, Peoria, was credited as being victor over Everett M. Dirksen, Pekin, baker, for the Republican nomination in the 16th district.

Edward R. Denison, Marion, dry Republican congressman, who gained the national spotlight when a trunkful of liquor was delivered to his office, appeared to have won his nomination.

M. A. Michaelson, Chicago, also a dry Republican congressman, who figured prominently in connection with charges that he brought a trunkful of liquor into this country from Cuba but of which he was later cleared, had tougher going. His nomination was still in doubt today as a result of a vigorous campaign by James C. Moreland.

Other sitting congressmen who apparently have won renomination are: Republicans—Morton D. Hull, Chicago, E. V. Sproul, Chicago, Frank R. Reid, Aurora; Homer W. Hall, Bloomington; W. P. Holaday, Georgetown and Dr. Ed M. Irwin, Belleville.

MRS. McCORMICK WINS

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick won the Republican nomination for the United States Senate in the primaries yesterday in Illinois.

The majority with which she won was given her entirely in Cook County. Outside of Chicago, Mrs. McCormick would have been defeated. All of the political gangsters, the grey wolves of public office, who had been thrown out by Chicago's vote two years ago, are returned to power with a vengeance, because they were part and parcel of the winning gang.

Two years ago, the day before the primaries,
we discussed the situation in Chicago, and said:

The question that Chicago itself will answer tomorrow is whether there is vitality enough in its citizens to break the apparent strangle hold which the crime forces have upon it. Mayor Thompson, of Chicago, in his statement that he would resign if Judge Swanson were elected, because he knew that there would be prosecutions, makes the most abject confession of political fear of which we have heard in many years. . . .

From scores of pulpits in Chicago, and regardless of creed, there were thundered forth messages yesterday calling upon the people to repudiate their false officials. Will they do it?

The following day the election took place, and by a tremendous vote the gangsters were repudiated by the people of Chicago.

And now the support of the Hearst papers, combined with the Chicago Tribune, these same people have returned to power.

The Associated Press dispatch, published in this morning's paper, contains the following:

The apparent McCormick victory in Chicago seems to have swept back into power the rejuvenated City Hall Republican faction crushed two years ago by Deneen's adherents. Virtually the entire slate backed by the Mayor Thompson group, which supported Mrs. Mc-Cormick, was far in the van of the Senator's partisans.

We hold no brief for Senator Deneen, but we can see no tinge of either gold or silver to the lining of the cloud that darkens the political horizon in Illinois, and Chicago, its metropolis.

If there be any value to come from the primaries in the state and the election in Chicago, it is the challenge that it makes to citizens with other ideals.

Former Senator J. Hamilton Lewis will be Mrs. McCormick's opponent. The contest, we imagine, will be carried to election day.

How about Harvard's scrub teams taking the place of the washerwomen discharged recently at the university? The college song might then be changed to read: "Till the last white line is washed."

MEN AND CLOTHES

We do not frequently refer in our editorial columns to advertising campaigns, but such an unusual one is taking place in the country just now that we feel it is worth some interest from the men.

Advertising campaigns on a great scale for the sale of clothing usually come from firms which supply women's apparel, but manufacturers and distributors of men's wear have found that men seem to have a growing desire to dress and look well. Probably there are more men who wear good clothes, and their clothes fit them better in America than in any nation of the world, and more today than any time in the history of our country.

We saw sometime ago an advertisement of a laundry which washes men's overalls, and it said: "A man feels about as he looks, and he works about as he feels." We remember when we worked in the shop, noticing that the good mechanics after they had a piece of work fastened in the chuck of their lathe, would clean up the machine and possibly go to the wash room and wash their hands and clean up themselves to a degree, before starting on shaping the particular piece of steel with which they were working.

Who of us does not feel that while clothing does not make the character, it does help to establish more confidence in ourselves, and some way or other an effort to live up to our appearance? Clothes well brushed and well pressed, are infinitely better than better clothes unkempt. There is a real association between the personal appearance, as a rule, and the inward life. It has in each case, its reflex power.
A person who is right wants to appear right.
A person who appears right has an inclination to square his life with his appearance.

We do not suppose this reasoning has brought about a campaign this week in the Saturday Evening Post of the leading men's clothiers of the country, but we observe that a sixteen-page section in colors of advertising by competing firms is being carried in this publication to be issued on the news stands tomorrow.

In co-operation with this campaign of possibly a quarter of a million dollars in this nation-wide periodical, local men's furnisheers are carrying local advertising with their appeal to men. It is a good time for men in proportion to their ability to do, to follow the admonition which we have emphasized from time to time in cleaning up the yards, the streets, the city, to effect the best appearance personally that is possible.

SPENDING TAXPAYERS' MONEY

We called attention Saturday, at considerable length, to the fact that the Board of Supervisors has an opportunity to save thousands of dollars to the taxpayers in advertising, as well as to insure that the great majority of the homes receive the advertising, and we presume that some people will wonder how these things can be.

Under the present arrangement which we actually did not know until after this issue had arisen, it is impossible for any county official to submit advertising to bids or to even accept less money for the advertising than the rate that is established by the Board of Supervisors.

The resolution bearing upon that, which the Board of Supervisors passed themselves, reads as follows:

... BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That any advertising done outside of, or that in any way conflicts with this schedule, must have the consent of the Board of Supervisors in advance.

This resolution makes it impossible for any county advertising, paid for out of the treasury of the county, to be published for less than the rate established by the Board.

They have had a proposition before them, and have it now, to save the county one-half of their advertising bill, and on one item alone, which is to be published next June, they would save more than $4,000.00. In other advertising, some of which is weekly, including their minutes, it would aggregate much more during the year.

What is the answer which the Board can or would make to this proposition? Their answer is that The Register has ulterior motives in making this saving for the county.

We maintain that regardless of the motives that might prompt us or any one else to furnish material for the county, the Board of Supervisors is obligated morally to save the taxpayers' money as far as they can, providing they get equally as good material. The motives of the men who sell them lumber or cement or advertising have nothing to do with it;
it is the price and the goods that ought to govern.

However, as a matter of fact, in respect to the motive, if we had a hostile motive, we would have at once, because the advertising was taken from The Register and placed in a paper having but a fraction of the circulation of The Register, and at the same price, called attention to that and made an issue of it. We did not do so, because we figured we could print the minutes of their meetings without extreme cost, and thereby the people would get the benefit, just as if it were paid, and so the taxpayer would be at least getting the benefit of the circulation even though he did not have the Board to thank for it.

Frankly, we are unable to stand the expense of printing twenty or thirty pages of the delinquent tax list, and other advertising without any pay therefor, or we would not complain now. We felt that the people should get the benefit of this money.

No one imagines for a moment that these men would conduct their own business in this way. They would not take double the amount of money that was necessary and hand it out from their own cash box, but they will do it from the taxpayers' cash box. The reason that they dare and can do this is not difficult to find. It is because their actions are agreed upon in a secret meeting, in what we have denominated heretofore as a "huddle." If the conclusions were openly arrived at, you would not find all of the Board would agree upon such misuse of funds whatever, but it seems the agreements are reached with doors closed, with the public shut out, and then without any discussion, they come out and carry out by resolution their pre-arranged plan. In other words, it is the secretiveness by which such things are accomplished which enables them to do it. Some day it may be possible that the "whys" and "wherefores" will be known, as things are being exposed by parties to secret agreements elsewhere.

Is not the fact that all of these things are kept secret and the doors closed upon their discussions, indicative that there is something about which they do not want the public to know? Is this spirit one that will be conducive to confidence in the Board or its actions?

If the Board of Supervisors is thus taking money of the taxpayer and handing it over to supporters running newspapers when they could save this money for the people of the county, we respectfully ask in how many more cases which are not now known to the public, is the Board taking the money of the taxpayer and handing it out to friends, when by exercising business judgment and acumen and the principles of trusteeship, they could save the taxpayer money? Is it not possible that our tax rate might be perceptibly reduced if the personnel of the Board were changed, and open and aboveboard business transacted?

Men are needed on the Board of Supervisors who recognize their obligations to the people and the taxpayers; men who know that they are trustees for 100,000 people and that they do not own either the money in the treasury or the office which they hold. We need men who are open and aboveboard in their dealings; who, when a question is before them, will discuss it openly and frankly; and will let the people know not only their conclusions, but how they arrived at the conclusions, which many times is infinitely more important.

Secretive deals and employments and purchases and contracts should be done away with,
and men selected for these offices who are sensitive to the people's desires; jealous of the people's rights; conscientious in the expenditure of funds, and businesslike in saving such funds.

Willie'd Better Get a Move On or There'll Be No Ice Cream Left!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

A WORD OF WARNING
Gangsters and gunmen invested heavily in the late bull market and suffered heavy losses.

I read with but little regret
That gangsters and gunmen in flocks,
Were earnestly seeking to get Their holdings invested in stocks.
Said I: "If these criminals all join the ranks
Of the leisurely, moneyed plutocracy
They won't need to shoot up cigar-stores and banks,
And the streets will be safe for democracy.

As long as the market was strong
One needn't go pallid with dread,
When a plug-ugly happened along.
For fear of a smash on the head.
The boys didn't need any guns or lead pipe
As devices for getting the best of us,
They plucked, down in Wall Street, the plums that were ripe
And prospered like all of the rest of us.

But, as soon as the bottom fell out
Of the recent auriferous boom,
The hold-up man wandered about
In an aura of stygian gloom.
No more he's arrayed in the tie-pins and rings
And the jewels that lately encrusted him,
No more he's clad in the raiment of kings,
For the market has utterly busted him.

And now we must all have a care,
For the crook, once accustomed to wealth,
A war on the world will declare
And conduct it with subtly-planned stealth.
Having sought for a fortune in higher finance
And lost it as soon as attaining it,
He'll resume the old methods and take a long chance
In his desperate hope of regaining it.

"The Cure For Unemployment Is To Find Jobs"By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

The stock market collapse, says President Hoover, "created undue pessimism, fear, uncertainty, and hesitation in business.
These emotions, being emotions, if allowed to run their course, would, by feeding on themselves, create difficulties. The cure for such storms is action: the cure for unemployment is to find jobs."

That is brass tacks. There is no one to dispute it.
Equally definite is the fact that, to find jobs, we need competent agencies which are conducted for that very purpose.

During the War, we were convinced of that. We acted accordingly. We established Federal Employment agencies, in co-operation with state agencies, to the end that every employable person who was willing to work could find work to do. A good start was made; but it was only a start. Since the war, unhappily, many states have made no progress at all, and some states have lost ground.

Says the Director-General of the U. S. Employment Service:
"In some states, all public employment agencies have ceased to function, because the legislatures have failed to make appropriations. Practically all offices are undermanned, and many are inadequately housed in undesirable locations."

In spite of this condition of state agencies, the U. S. Employment Service maintains no independent employment offices whatever, except those which supply seasonal farm labor.

In the year 1928, these Federal farm labor agencies recruited 541,280 men for seasonal harvesting. That, certainly, was "curing unemployment by finding jobs."

Does anyone doubt that there are, at this moment, 541,280 jobless men, other than farm laborers, who are not within reach of any adequately-manned employment agency?

Mr. Hoover is right: the cure for their trouble is action. But effective action is impossible until we know the location of these men, their trainings, experience, nationality and age, as well as the existing demand for, and supply of, each kind of labor in each district—in short, all those facts which have to do with bringing men and jobs together.

No practical means of keeping such facts constantly available has ever been proposed, except a national system of public labor exchanges. Such a system is provided for in a bill introduced a year ago by Senator Wagner. The creation of such a system would be action—direct action.

The cure for unemployment is to find jobs.

Pop was trying to make his cigar

the baby did the most astounding thing today.

Meaning my sister Gladness baby without any name yet, and pop sed,
I bet I can guess, I bet he berst out

It was even more wonderful than that in a way, which just goes to

How old is the child? pop sed, and ma sed, Less than a month in axual figures.

Im from the inmost depths of Mizzouri, pop sed.

Meaning he didnt bleeve it, and ma sed, Well its true just a same, but if youve made up your mind in advants not to bleeve it in any case, 6 of one and half a duzen of the other, why I wont even bother to tell you the details.

Not at all, I mean I have an open mind on the subject, pop sed. The details by all means, he sed, and ma sed, Well, what happened was this. He was lying in his little bassinet apparently rapped in thawt, and I held out 2 fingers to him, one on each hand, without realy expecting anything to occur of any significance, and low and behold what did the little scamp do but retch out with both his little hands and take hold of my fingers with a grip like a drowning straw without ivagation, ma sed.

Yes, go on, youve almost got me bleeving it, pop sed, and ma sed,
Well, what more do you want, thats all.

But yee gods, how did he try to sit up? pop sed, and ma sed, dont you know how a baby tries to sit up? He takes hold of something with both hands and pulls, and while naturally he didnt axually get as far as pulling, the principle is the same, she sed.

Being when pop got behind the sporting page.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

IF WE ACTED ON OUR KNOWLEDGE

Educators twit theologians for their tardiness in revamping their doctrines in the light of the findings of modern science.

But I suspect that pedagogy is about as leaden-footed as theology in following the lead of new knowledge.

Educators have, it seems to me,
been just as slow in adjusting their class-room techniques to the results of modern research in psychology and biology as the theologians have been in adjusting their theories of the universe to the results of modern research in geology, astronomy, physics, and correlate sciences.

The most revolutionary knowledge of the nature and needs of human beings has been unearthed by modern research in psychology and biology.

But, by and large, educators look upon modern psychology and modern biology as simply offering new materials to be taught rather than new points of view from which to teach.

The universities impose this new knowledge in their departments of psychology and biology, teach it there with infinite care, but they do not let it loose, as the revolutionary force it might be, throughout their educational processes.

Honest efforts have been made to apply this new knowledge in the earlier school years, but the universities are, in the main, pursuing their traditional educational purposes and procedures as if the study of the body and mind of mankind had not moved an inch in the last two hundred years.

Here and there cloistered and insulated experiments go on,
but not widely fostered reconsid-eration of the whole educational process in the light of our new knowledge of the nature of mind and man.

It but a single university, anywhere in the Western world, should reconsider and redirect its total educational process in terms of the new knowledge it is already teaching in its departments of psychology and biology and physiology, it might become the nursery of a new type of man, a man better fitted than we to wrestle with the urgent issues of social reconstruction.

To bring about this reconsid-eration and redirection, from kindergarten to university, is one of the major tests of the statesmanship of our generation.

OUR CHILDREN

THE GOOD SPORT

A girl of fourteen wrote to me asking me which was the better sport, the girl who refused to whisper in class to give information to other pupils during a test, who held to the code laid down by the teachers, or the girl who was always ready to help a friend out, who laughed at rules and was a "good sport" generally. She ended her letter by voting for the regular sport as against the sissyish, old maid girl.

I am for the old maid, sissyish girl. I like her, I respect her a lot. She is getting to be very rare while the good sport who laughs at codes, teachers, conventional standards are as plentiful as dandelions in the meadow. It is not that I like one girl personally better than the other because I like all children. But it is that I know by wide experience, the old fashioned girl is storing up success and happiness for herself by undergoing discipline at the right time while the good sport is laying up much trouble for herself in the near future.

To be truly happy one must be useful and beloved. The best training for usefulness is found in the schools. Nothing that is taught there will ever injure a child, but much they learn there will strengthen and help them in the time of need. Teachers are people who have lived through all the stages of growth through which their pupils are passing. They know what they are doing and why they do it. Their teaching is based on what the human race has found to be wise and good.

No, no, Good Sport, you are on the wrong track. You can buy radishes for a few cents a bunch but a peach, delightful fruit of cherished blossom, comes high. It is valued accordingly.

STEINMETZ'S BIRTH

On April 9, 1865, Charles Proteus Steinmetz, American electrical wizard, and called one of the greatest scientific minds the world has ever known, was born at Breslau, Germany.

Congenitally deformed, Steinmetz devoted to study the time he might have spent at play. At the universities of Breslau and Berlin, where he made brilliant records, he got himself into difficulty because of his pronounced Socialistic views. He fled to this country to escape governmental prosecution.

Arriving in New York penniless, Steinmetz got a job in a Yonkers factory for $2 a day. He quickly attracted attention through his inventions for electric motors and generators and by his writings.
Eventually, he became chief consulting engineer for the General Electric company.

Some of his most important contributions were: the mercury lamp; the first plan for the transmission of light and power great distances; a formula for producing energy as a by-product of heat; process by which smoke could be eliminated, and perfection of a theory proving that microbes could be cultivated to provide food for the world.

Time To Smile

IN URGENT NEED

MOTHER: This letter from Charlie is very short.

FATHER: Yes, so is Charlie, or he wouldn't have written.—Tit-Bits.

CRUDE WORK

WELFARE WORKER (to prisoner): And what are you here for, my man?

PRISONER: Flattery, ma'am. Caught imitating another man's signature on a check.—Tit-Bits.

COULDN'T TELL A LIE

"You seem to have plenty of intelligence for a man in your position," sneered a barrister, cross-examining a witness.

"If I wasn't on oath I'd return the compliment," replied the witness.—Tit-Bits.
